Township Is Considering November Referendum On Whether to Allow 3-Day Shotgun Deer Season

The November election campaign in the Township could heat up considerably if Township Committee decides to go ahead with a referendum on whether or not to allow a three-day shotgun season to thin the area deer herd.

Mayor Gail W. Firestone made the suggestion to put the question to the voters on Monday night, as Committee prepared to introduce an ordinance allowing a special deer hunting season for three days in December. The proposed amendment to the Township's ban on discharge of firearms, which has been in effect since 1972, contained eight criteria regulating hunters and the conditions under which they would be allowed to hunt on Township property.

Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer took the proposed ordinance to the Bureau of Enforcement in the state Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife for its review. Four of the eight criteria or conditions were disallowed by the bureau, either because the bureau viewed the stipulation as conflicting with its own legislated authority to regulate hunting in the state or as being a matter better left to negotiation between landowner and hunter.

The four criteria which were eliminated from the proposed ordinance include the stipulation that hunters be registered with the Township Police Department; that they agree to hunt all three days; that they submit to a shotgun test administered by the Township Police Department; and that they register their vehicles with the Township Police.

Mayor Firestone called these deletions "upsetting." She said the original had been drafted with a great deal of thought for public safety, both in terms of reducing the number of deer/car collisions and insuring safety during the special shotgun season.

"In my mind it is now much more unclear in which action the public safety is best served," the mayor remarked. She suggested placing the issue

University Proposes Alternative Roadway For Davidson's Traffic

Princeton University officials have proposed an alternative roadway that they believe would create parking spaces and ease the traffic flow in the area surrounding the new Davidson's Market. Differing significantly from the roadway design announced by the Borough, the configuration worked out by the University would bring traffic from the road between Wawa and Davidson's, out behind the WaWa building, and back out onto Nassau Street on the east side of Wawa.

The University was scheduled to present its plan to Borough Council at Council's July 14 meeting. Commencing in advance of the meeting, Mayor Barbara Sigmund was lukewarm about the new concept.

While stressing that she did not want to reject the University's plan outright, she said that, at first blush, the Borough concept is superior to the University's in at least two ways.

"It directs traffic away from existing residential neighborhoods rather than up against neighborhoods already affected, such as Murray Place and Maple Street," the mayor said. She also believes the sight lines at the

Preference to Princeton Commuters Allowed By NJ Transit in Dinky Parking Space Lottery

New Jersey Transit has agreed to allow Princeton University to give preference to Borough and Township commuters in its lottery to allocate parking spaces in the lot now under construction at the Dinky station.

The University had announced its intention to hold a two-tier lottery for the 127 spaces, which are expected to be ready September 1. The first drawing, for 64 spaces, was to be open only to Princeton commuters. The second, for the remaining 63 slots, was to be open to those Princeton residents who didn't make it in the first go-round and to commuters from other towns.

But New Jersey Transit balked and put a hold on these plans, decreeing that Princeton residents may not be favored in a lottery.

Negotiations followed among New Jersey Transit, Princeton Borough and Princeton University to iron out the dispute. And on Monday, New Jersey Transit changed its mind and approved the two-tier lottery.

New Jersey Transit Director John McGoldrick, a resident of Princeton, issued a statement explaining the turnaround. "Given the private ownership of the lot and special transportation considerations involved, New Jersey Transit believes that it makes sense to allow a two-phase lottery that recognizes, at least in a modest way, the special dependency of Princeton commuters on the Dinky," he said.

on the public ballot in November "to let the people of the Township let their will be known."

According to Mr. Schmierer, Committee can adopt a resolution asking the Mercer County Clerk to place a public question on the ballot November 3. This must be done 74 days in advance of the election. The wording would be worked out by Committee.

Another method is for 10 percent of the registered voters to petition the governing body to ask the County Clerk to put the question on the ballot. In either case, Committee has "plenty of time," Mr. Schmierer said, to act.

Meanwhile, with the proposed ordinance awaiting some sort of action, and an audience of proponents and opponents, Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand moved introduction of the amendment "to get it on the table." It was seconded by Committeewoman Carol Wojciechowicz. Mayor Firestone did not allow public comment, as she did last week, but gave Committee members opportunity to speak to the issue.

Committeeman Thomas Poole said that in his view Committee had done a "poor" job communicating the purpose of the amendment, which, he said, "is viewed as a return to Township-wide hunting" over the objections of environmentalists.

"Nothing is further from the truth," Mr. Poole said. "Environmentalists know that when a species is out of line in terms of numbers, the only thing to do is to bring the numbers back in line." Mr. Poole initially favored postponing introducing the ordinance to re-examine it. He said more work needed to be done, particularly with the large landowners without whose cooperation it will not work.

Health, Welfare Issue. Committeewoman Janet Mitchell repeated her assertion of last week that "something has to be done" and said she would not want to see the momentum lost as it would be if the amendment were postponed. She termed the issue one of health and welfare and said the governing body has a responsibility to act when the welfare of its citizens is involved.

She also felt Committee should "go ahead with the referendum," as did Mrs. Wojciechowicz. When the committee was polled on the motion to introduce, Mrs. Marchand, Mrs. Wojciechowicz and Mrs. Mitchell all said "yes" without further comment. Mayor Firestone voted "no," reiterating her suggestion for a referendum and saying that the deletions made her uncomfortable. Mr. Poole agreed to introduce the ordinance "to begin a dialogue."

Mayor Firestone called for two public hearings on the measure before it is adopted. One will be held at the next meeting of Township Committee on Monday, August 3, with another tentatively scheduled for Monday, August 17.

In other business, Mayor Firestone appointed herself and Hans Sander, chairman of the Regional Planning Board, as the Township's official representatives to the "cross-acceptance" planning dialogue between county and municipal

Mrs. Mitchell asked that she be named instead of Mr. Sander, suggesting that a "fresh perspective" would be desirable. But Mayor Firestone pointed out that County Executive Bill Mathesius had suggested the mayor and the chairman of the planning board from each municipality as the official representatives. She told Mrs. Mitchell she appreciated her interest but said it would be more "appropriate" at MSM or in attending Planning Board meetings.

"This kind of committee is on a higher level than learning the ropes," she said. But she agreed to investigate whether a third representative could be appointed.

Deadline for receipt of applications for the parking spaces is July 24. The lottery will take place July 27. All applications received after July 24 will be placed on the waiting list. Princeton residents will have no priority on this list.

Applications are available at the Dinky and at the kiosk between Firestone Library and Joseph Henry House on the University campus. Persons wishing applications may enter the University driveway opposite South Tulane Street between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., and obtain them from the public safety officer on duty.

So far, the University has received 90 applications for the parking spaces, which will be renewable quarterly at a $60 fee per quarter. Of these, 50 have come from Princeton residents.

Two Major Proposals Under Review Nearby

DKM Properties Inc., which is headquartered in Lawrence, is proposing a major shopping center in West Windsor and a major residential development in Montgomery. Both proposals are presently under review in the respective municipalities.

Plans for the shopping center, tentatively titled Windsor Green, have been reviewed by the West Windsor Site Plan Review Advisory Board and will be forwarded to the Planning Board. The plans call for building 157,000 square feet of retail space and 10,000 square feet for an auto leasing and chauffeur service on a 35½-acre tract off Route 1.

The property is bounded by Duck Pond Run and Emmons Way. A Pathmark supermarket and a home improvement center would be the center's main stores, in addition to smaller stores and a bank. Access is shown from Route 1 and through rear entrances.

The developer must obtain permission from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to build on an acre of wetlands in the tract. The property includes three acres of wetlands, but construction will only involve one acre.

In Montgomery Township, DKM Properties proposes building 456 homes on a 500-acre tract bordered by Route 518, The Great Road and Cherry Valley Road. The houses would be clustered around an 18-hole golf course. The proposal is said to be the largest single-family residential development to come before the Montgomery Planning Board, which began consideration of the plans last Monday.

The developer is expected to donate a 50-acre tract to the township for open space or parkland. Each of the 456 homes will be situated on an average half-acre lot, and the development will be served by public water and sewer and water rather than wells and septic systems.

Township Plans Repair Of Many of Its Roads

Despite the feeling on the part of many residents that "nothing is being done to fix the potholes," the Township has a two-pronged program for road repair. It began in a modest way two years ago, received a $1 million boost in the Township capital budget last year and another $1 million for 1987.

It consists of major reconstruction and repaving of certain heavily used arteries as funds are available, combined with stabilizing the surface of many other streets with the less expensive oil and chip treatment.

Under the more extensive reconstruction/overlayment part of the plan, Mt. Lucas Road has been entirely resurfaced, from Valley Road to the Montgomery border. The section from Valley Road to Ewing Street has just been completed.

Major reconstruction of the Valley Road-Harrison Street intersection is underway, and is expected to take the rest of the summer. The Township received some state funds for this project and did the design in-house.

Contracts Are Let. According to Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser, contracts have been let for the repair and overlayment of Edgerstone Road from Route 206 to Winant Road and for resurfacing of Lovers Lane. Work may begin this month on both projects, Mr. Kiser says, adding that some of the cost of the Edgerstone Road reconstruction will be paid for by the developers of the Russell Estates.

The Township has made an application for state funding for the reconstruction and overlayment of Ewing/Harrison Street, from Route 206 to Bunn Drive. Meanwhile, design work for that project is under way in the Township engineering office. State funds are also being sought for repair and resurfacing Mercer Street from the Borough line to Quaker Road, and also for Alexander Street, from the Borough line to West Windsor.

Partial reconstruction of Cherry Hill Road, with some widening, from Route 206 to Bouvant Drive, is in the design phase. Construction is expected to begin later this year. This project will be the beneficiary of funds required of the Princeton Ridge developer, Shadow Oaks.

According to Walter Mironchik of the Township Engineering Department, the Township has warned utility companies that they will not be allowed to open up any of these roads for a period of five years, once the reconstruction and overlayment has been completed. "We warned them in advance," Mr. Mironchik adds.

Also this summer, the Township will continue the oil and chip treatment of many streets. Much less expensive than macadam repaving, the treatment is designed to seal the surfaces in an effort to keep these roads from deteriorating to the point where major reconstruction is necessary. Laid on by the Township Public Works crew, the oil and chip resurfacing generates a fair amount of dust when first applied and until the weight of car traffic tamps it

Road Update

Every Borough taxpayer has received — along with his or her tax bill — a small flyer on 1987 road reconstruction in the Borough.

Prepared by the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce, the flyer has also been made available to area businesses — who may wish to comfort clients with the thought that the roads won't always be the way they are now.

The Borough schedule shows a targeted completion date of September for North Harrison Street from Nassau Street to Mershon Drive, the proposed road from Olden Street to WaWa/Davidson's Alley, and Maple Street from Spruce Street to the dead end; and a targeted October completion for Library Place from Stockton Street to Hodge Road, Lafayette Road, Hunter Road, Boudinot Street, Lilac Lane, and Springdale Road.

No Records, But It Was Hot

"It was a lot worse in 1911," said Princeton weather historian David Ludlum. But he granted that the past week was indeed hot and uncomfortable, although no records were broken.

The combination of temperatures in the 90s and high humidity brought the dew point to 70-75 degrees. Things become sticky when the dew point reaches 70 degrees.

The heat also caused a rash of late afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms, which brought double the normal rainfall for this period.

Mr. Ludlum, while making no predictions, provided a bit of hope. "Last year," he said, "it was as hot as this until July 15. But then the rest of the summer was cooler."

Lower Costs Are Possible For Garbage Collection

The second round of bidding for Township municipal garbage collection produced one bid at a lower level than the previous two. Nonetheless, the Township will reject that bid and negotiate for a contract which it hopes will be still more favorable.

Township Administrator James J. Pascale and Engineer Robert V. Kiser reported to Township Committee last Monday that a single bid had been received from National Waste of Ewing, the present municipal garbage collector. The bid was 10 percent lower for curbside service than the previous bid — which had been rejected as being too high — and six percent lower for backdoor service.

Having sought bids twice, the Township may now negotiate with a bidder. Mr. Pascale told Committee that he and Mr. Kiser will sit down with National Waste and try to work out a contract that eliminates the pass-through clause for tipping fee increases. Instead, they would like to link any increase in cost for service to rate increases approved by the Bureau of Public Utilities, which controls rate increases for private collection.

In addition, they are confident they can negotiate a discount for municipal collection from National Waste based on the fact that the municipality handles the billing for the service, thus eliminating one cost to the company.

Ordinance to Opt Out. Meanwhile, Committee introduced an ordinance amendment to allow residents in collection district seven to opt out of municipal collection in favor of private collection. Residents who were alarmed by three- and fourfold increases in garbage costs on their 1987 tax bills had asked Committee to allow them to negotiate their own individual service, convinced that the rates would be far less.

There will be a public hearing on the elimination of the district Monday, August 3, prior to final adoption. The ordinance will be retroactive to August 1, and Mr. Pascale suggested that residents should make arrangements now for private pick-up.

Residents were also told to pay the third quarter of their 1987 tax bills, due August 1, even with the municipal garbage rate included. A refund will be available at a later date, but it will exclude the residents' share of the $25,000 shortfall in garbage collection costs the Township incurred for 1986.

Meanwhile, too, Mr. Kiser and Township Treasurer and Tax Collector John Clawson Jr. have been working on a way to apportion municipal garbage collection costs on a district-by-district basis so that the average home within each district would be the same as the average home in any other district. Currently the more expensive homes are paying the lion's share, as Mr. Kiser put it, making for a wide disparity in charges.

Mr. Kiser said that 27 of the 36 homes in garbage district seven — Longview and Lake drives — have signed a petition asking to "opt out" of municipal collection.

SOMETIMES A DOG'S LIFE ISN'T SO BAD: Clover, a four-year-old Golden Retriever knows how to beat the heat as she dives into the pool adjoining the university's Woodrow Wilson Building. Owner Susan Swapp, an employee of the university's geology department, commented Monday, "On days like today, you'd need a gun to keep people out."

suit December 19 against the Borough, charging that amendments to the Historic District Ordinance restricting the type of signage allowed in Palmer Square West were invalid, unreasonable, and unconstitutional.

The amendments specify that the typeface must be Caslon Old Style Italic Upper Case, or an accepted variation (see photo of Clayton's). The Warehouse, shown here, has consistently refused to alter its logo-typeface to the specified Caslon. Jaeger, on the other hand, has complied with the Borough ordinance, while still joining the Palmer Square suit in the hopes of being able to replace the Borough-mandated sign with its own logo.

"I would request Warehouse Corporation, which chose to defy the ordinance, to comply forthwith," said Mayor Sigmund at a press conference announcing Judge Levy's ruling. "And I want to publicly thank Jaeger Corporation for complying with the Borough ordinance while the case was being heard."

The mayor noted that Judge Levy, in finding for the Borough, had upheld the municipality's right to maintain its historic and aesthetic character through duly passed laws.

Committee Hears Pleas Of Residents, Companies

Township Committee entertained two requests Monday night that it had heard and acted on previously.

The first was from neighbors in the vicinity of Autumn Hill and Herrontown roads who want to make sure proposed S-92 does not slice through Autumn Hill Reservation. They asked that Committee draft a resolution to the state Department of Transportation strongly supporting putting the highway on scheme 6 or on the "preserved" alignment, dating back to 1972.

Mayor Gail Firestone read a portion of the Township's policy on the proposed highway, drawn up in December and January for the public hearings on the DOT's draft Environment Impact Statement, which supports the scheme 6 alignment and opposes cutting through the diabase ridge of the park. The DOT is on record as favoring scheme 6, but Laurence Glasberg, spokesman for the residents, asked for another resolution.

Committee concurred, and Mayor Firestone suggested that a statement in praise of the park by Eileen Shahbender be attached to the resolution.

Floor Area Increase. Representatives of Church & Dwight and Peterson's Guides came before Township Committee in their quest for a return — at least part way — to zoning regulations, governing the amount of buildable office space, that were in effect before last August. Specifically, they asked for an increase in the permitted floor-area ratio to 12, and preferably to 14, percent. Floor-area ratio, or FAR, is the ratio of building space to the size of a lot, expressed in a percentage.

Acting on a recommendation from the Planning Board, Committee reduced the permitted FAR in the office/research zone in which the two companies are located from 18 to 10 percent last August. It also reduced the FAR in the more environmentally sensitive OR 1 zone from 12 to 8 percent, and enlarged that zone substantially. The actions were taken out of concern for the amount of traffic that could be generated if both zones were to be built to capacity at the higher FAR.

Representatives of Church & Dwight and Peterson's Guides argue that the down-zoning was proportionately more severe in their zone than in the more environmentally sensitive OR 1. They also argue that as single tenants and established businesses engaged in a certain amount of research, their companies generate less traffic than would a multi-tenanted, new speculative office complex.

Mayor Firestone suggested that there might be merit in tailoring a zoning amendment to encourage research activities, which generate less traffic, as opposed to pure office use. It was suggested that the request, and this suggestion, be forwarded to the Planning Board's Zoning Amendment Review Committee.

Delay Is Anticipated In Replacing Trunkline

Given the choice of a four- to five-month delay in the replacement of two sewer trunklines or abandoning an application for $2 million in state funds, the Sewer Operating Committee has opted for the delay.

The SOC is in the process of replacing 7½ miles of trunkline and repairing the collection system feeding the trunks in order to reduce ground water inflow and stop raw sewage overflows. The rehabilitation is also designed to reduce sewage treatment costs by reducing the volume of water reaching the treatment plant.

The SOC anticipated that work would begin on the eastern trunk replacement this summer and he completed by the end of the year. Replacement of the longer western trunk was scheduled to be completed by the July, 1988 deadline by which all overflows must be eliminated under the federal Clean Water Act.

The cost of the project — trunk replacement and collector repair — is estimated at $12 million. In order to reduce financing costs, the Township and Borough are applying for low interest loans from the New Jersey Wastewater Treatment Trust of the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection. This department administers federal funds appropriated by the Clean Water Act.

To qualify for these funds, which could mean a difference of $1 million in each of the two municipalities over the life of the bonds which each has issued, the SOC must file detailed archaeological, historical, environmental and economic reports, as well as engineering studies.

According to Martin Dorward, SOC manager, preliminary reports on all these topics were filed in May. The DEP has just recently responded with "pages and pages" of additional requests or corrections, which must be completed and again sent to the state for approval.

BROADWAY AIDS A BY-PASS NOW!!

DIFFERENT COUNTRY, SAME PROBLEM: Broadway, a small, one-street, English village some 80 miles west of London is facing the same problem as Princeton. Herb Hobler, and his wife, Mary, spotted this sign, while traveling through England several weeks ago. Apparently, a by-pass is long overdue there as well.

As Mr. Dorward said this week, somewhat wearily, "The generation of these reports by the SOC and their review and approval by the N.J. DEP is very, very time consuming. But we wanted everyone to know we're still plugging at it."

Because of the overflows, the DEP two years ago imposed a moratorium on new sewer hook-ups of commercial or residential developments of more than one house. The ban will be ended when the rehabilitation project is completed and the overflows are stopped.

Suspect Is Apprehended; Charge: Burglary, Theft

Borough police may have made a dent in the rash of break-ins here with the arrest Monday night of a burglary suspect.

The suspect, Anthony Bailey, 31, of RD4, Kingston, has been charged with the burglary and theft earlier in the evening of a Berrien Court home. A $5,000 cash bail has been set on Bailey, who has been sent to the Mercer County Detention Center, pending action by a Grand Jury.

Bailey was apprehended and arrested 20 minutes after a resident of Quarry Street called police at 11:10, reporting a suspicious person carrying what appeared to be a piece of stereo equipment through a rear yard.

The police investigation revealed that a resident of Berrien Court, which runs off Quarry Street, had observed a person looking in his windows and trying his doors. He lost sight of the suspect when he went to another house, police said, but then heard a loud crash. A few minutes later, Bailey was seen by the Quarry Street caller.

Det. Michael Taylor and Patrolmen Ken Lozier and Ronald Wohlschlegel, who responded, found the suspect emerging between two houses in the neighborhood. Capt. Thomas Michaud commented that there were signs of perspiration on the suspect and evidence he had been running around in the neighborhood.

Bailey was arrested after he was identified by the Berrien Court resident as the suspect who had been walking around

CAN YOU TOP THIS? Seniors who will be attending the annual Landau Senior Citizen Picnic on the Princeton University campus are encouraged to create original hats, which can be beautiful or crazy. Wearing some of last year's amazing entries are, from left, Robert Landau, Karen Jezlery, director of Community and State Affairs at Princeton University, Jocelyn Helm, director of the Senior Resource Center, and L. Leslie Vivlan Jr., Miss Jezlery's predecessor. The picnic will be held Thursday, July 30.

Seniors should call 924-7108 as soon as possible.

Two Residences Entered During Weekend on John

A home and an apartment on John Street were broken into during the weekend.

Taken from the home were a VCR valued at $350 and an 8mm Sony tape player valued at $550. Police report that the intruder gained entry between midnight and 6 Sunday morning by cutting two holes in a screen to lift the screen and then enter an interior window near the front porch.

During a half-hour period the previous afternoon, an apartment on John Street was entered through an unlocked hallway door. The only item taken was a bottle of prescription drugs. "Unusual," commented Capt. Thomas Michaud, because the stolen medication, which he identified as Ativan tablets, is used for a nervous disorder and is not a typical drug.

Nothing else was taken and Capt. Michaud said that police may have a suspect in the theft.

his house and by the Quarry Street caller as the suspect walking through a rear yard carrying a stereo.

A 14-inch television set and a portable AM-FM stereo cassette player and recorder, valued at $570, were later found by police in a year near where Bailey was apprehended. Capt. Michaud said they had been stolen from the home on Berrien Court.

Pedestrians Assaulted By Gang on John Street

Two residents of John Street were assaulted by a gang last Wednesday evening just before 10 as they walked along John Street.

The victims told police that a car had pulled up alongside them and four or five occupants of the car got out and began to assault them. After punching and shoving the victims, the suspects returned to their car and drove off.

One victim, age 30, sustained multiple cuts and abrasions and a black eye; the second, 28, received a black eye and scratches on the left side of his face. Both were treated at Princeton Medical Center.

Capt. Thomas Michaud reported police have a description of the car and a possible suspect. The victims told police that they did not recognize any of their attackers. There was no attempt to take any money from the victims, Capt. Michaud added, and as far as police know, no words were exchanged.

Landau Senior Picnic Will Be Held on July 30

The 14th annual Landau's Senior Citizens Picnic will be held on Thursday, July 30, from 4 to 6:30 in Prospect Gardens on the Princeton University campus. In case of rain the picnic will be held in Jadwin Gym.

The event will begin with entertainment provided by a strolling barbershop quartet, and Sandy Maxwell will perform "oldies but goodies" on the piano. Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund, Township Mayor Gail Firestone, and Myrna Bearse of TOWN TOPICS and Maria LoBiando of The Packet will judge the Crazy Hat Contest.

Prizes will be awarded for the most original, the most beautiful and the funniest hats. Everyone is urged to create a headpiece, be it crazy or beautiful. There will be two workshops at the Suzanne Patterson Center at which seniors may design hats. These workshops will be held on Wednesday, July 22, and Wednesday, July 29, from 1 to 3. Call 683-0526 for more information.

It is anticipated that 325 seniors will attend, and it is important that everyone sign up in advance. Princeton Nursing Home and Merwick residents have been invited as special guests.

The menu will consist of barbecued chicken, ribs and salads. For the first time this year, each person will be required to have a meal ticket which can be picked up at the gate. This will assure that each person will receive a meal.

Raffle tickets for a handmade lap robe, a towel set and a Gund bear are available at the Senior Resource Center for $1, with all proceeds going to the Center. Tickets will also be on sale at the picnic, where the drawing will take place. Ticket purchasers do not have to be present to win.

The committee, headed by Jocelyn Helm and her staff at the Senior Resource Center, will be assisted by Tom Mladenetz, Georgine Hall, Gillian Godfrey and Dot Kruger. Members of the Joint Commission on Aging will serve as hosts and hostesses at the picnic.

Transportation is being coordinated by the Recreation Department and is available to those residents who need it. TRADE and Invalid Coach will be assisting with special transportation needs.

The deadline for picnic reservations is Monday, July 27.

Happy Ending for Design of House on Bank Street

The House That Wasn't Built

The Borough Historic Preservation Review Committee has given thumbs up to the design of the two-family house Dr. Anthony Vasselli, of Princeton, plans to build at 27-29 Bank Street.

This was in contrast to last fall, when the commission refused to give its imprimatur to Dr. Vasselli's plans for a one-family house on the site. The commission's approval is required for renovation or construction in the Borough's four historic districts: the Central Business District, Jugtown, Mercer Hill, and Bank Street.

When plans for Dr. Vasselli's one-family house surfaced early last year, residents of Bank Street petitioned Borough Council to add Bank Street to the list of Borough Historic Districts. This was done, opening the way for the commission to rule on the building's historical fit.

The two houses are different from each other both in looks and purpose. The earlier plan was for a one-family house in which Dr. and Mrs. Vasselli planned to live. It was built of stucco, slate and tile, and included a fourth-story penthouse with a lap pool and sunroom, an elevator, and a removable floor over the garage.

While Dr. Vasselli and his architect, Michael Burns, defended the house as fitting in with the feeling of Bank Street architecture, the Historic Preservation Review Committee disagreed, and refused to approve the plans.

The new structure is a two-family home, which the doctor will probably sell. The footprint of the house is a good deal larger than the original one-family structure. And, because it is larger, it will require a great many variances to conform to Borough zoning laws. Ironically, this should present no problem.

All the other houses on Bank Street are both large and wildly nonconforming (having been built well before the Borough's current zoning ordinances were written), so the new house will need to be granted a slew of variances in order to conform to the street's present — and nonconforming — structures.

As Borough Zoning Officer Frank Slimak says, "In order to get the building to match, it has to conform to nonconforming."

But the Vasselli family, which now includes a two-week-old daughter, has not given up its goal of a home in the Borough. Last month, the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment approved the physician's plans to demolish the building at 24 Charlton Street and build a one-family house on the site.

Dr. Vasselli said that architectural plans for the new house are not completed, but he still wants his new home to include a penthouse pool. The design, however, would not be the same as the first house on Bank Street, "because," he says, "that house would be terrible on Charlton." He thinks his new home might be more along the lines of the nearby building that houses Princeton University Press.

The story of the house that was rejected has a happy ending, says Dr. Vasselli. "The people on Bank Street are happy because they're getting a house that's similar. And I'm happy because I'm getting a larger house."

Between 10:30 Friday night and 9 the next morning, a home on Erdman Avenue was entered while the occupants were asleep. Once inside, the intruder took a pocketbook from a kitchen counter and went to the basement where he dumped its contents on the floor. He took $100 from the purse and a $200 gold ring and left.

Police said there were numerous screens on the first floor that could be easily opened and it is believed the suspect picked one to enter a first-floor window.

Two in the Township. Township police also report an entry into an Erdman Avenue home — again while the occupants were asleep.

According to Capt. Jack Petrone, the intruder, while an air conditioner was running, brazenly stole the victim's pants, containing his wallet, from a bedroom. Both the wallet and the pants were later found on the porch by the victim, the contents of the wallet strewn about — minus the $9 it had contained. There was evidence that the intruder also searched other rooms in the house while the victims were sleeping. Entry was gained through two open doors in the rear of the house.

About the same time, and in the same neighborhood, a home on Franklin Avenue was entered between 11:30 Friday and seven Saturday morning. The thief forced open a window to gain access and took a change purse containing $50 from a dining room table — again while the occupants were upstairs asleep.

Police report that the thief pulled open a crank style window and removed a screen to climb through onto a bed in a guest room.

Wine, Lunch Box on List Of Thefts Here Last Week

Thieves in Princeton last week were not only hungry for money and TV sets, they were hungry.

Four bottles of white wine valued at $56 were stolen some time late Saturday evening or early Sunday morning from the J.B. Winberie Restaurant on Palmer Square. Police said the thief had cut open a decorative brass wire screen to remove the bottles from a cabinet in a small room adjoining the dining room.

A worker for an outside contractor at the site for the addition to Firestone Library on the university campus told police that someone had stolen his lunch box from a company truck. Inside were his wallet containing $70 and other personal items for a total loss of $102.

Saturday afternoon a black male was seen leaving the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center carrying a bag of meat which he had not paid for. He was observed entering a red car and an employee supplied Township police with a description of the suspect (5-6, short afro, dark clothing) plus the license number of the vehicle. South Brunswick police were asked to check out the car, but the results were negative and Capt. Jack Petrone said the shoplifting is still under investigation.

In another theft at the Shopping Center, an employee of Rosa's Cafe joined the list of victims after someone drove off with his 1981 Corvette that he had parked near the Cafe. The $22,000 car was unlocked and the keys left in the ignition.

At first, the owner, Calogera Graziano of Trenton, thought his friends were pulling a joke on him but he eventually called police at 1:10 Thursday morning to report the car missing. A short time after police had broadcast the theft over the Mercer County Crime Alert system, Lawrence Township police called to report the car had been involved in an accident and towed to a garage.

Police here report the car had sideswiped a tree, causing extensive damage to its right side. The thief had locked the car and taken the keys before abandoning it near Whitehead Road.

Wheelbarrow Taken. A Chestnut Street homeowner last week left his wheelbarrow in front of his house, where he had been doing some work. When he returned from lunch a half-hour later, the wheelbarrow, valued at approximately $40, had been stolen.

Between noon and 1 p.m. Thursday, a Princeton University student left his blue, vinyl bookbag lying in plain view on a rack in the student center on campus. That didn't deter someone from stealing his bag which contained, police said, personal items valued at $100 but no cash.

In one of two wallet thefts last week, a Cranbury resident locked his clothes in a YMCA locker. Two hours later, he returned to find the lock missing as well as his wallet containing $200. An apartment-dweller on Wiggins Street lost $230 when his wallet was stolen from a bathroom. Police report that several contractors are doing some work on the house, and numerous employees were in and out during the two-day period when the theft took place.

Forty dollars were stolen from a cash drawer in an unlocked office in West College on the university campus. The money was taken between 8:30 and 10:30 Friday morning.

A doctor told police last week that someone removed a $295 radar detector from his convertible while it was parked in Princeton Medical Center lot. The detector was stolen from the car's locked glove compartment which had been pried open. The car itself was not locked.

An employee's $50 radio and $50 watch were reported stolen last week from an office in the Von Neumann Building on the university campus. There were no signs of forced entry.

While police were investigating the theft, another employee came forth to report that a $50 clock radio had been stolen earlier from his office.

Capt. Thomas Michaud said that the suspect described in each theft has been seen in and out of the building on several occasions and is not employed there.

Car Hits Sycamore Tree; Driver, Passenger Hurt

A driver and her six-year-old passenger were injured Sunday morning when their car left the roadway on N. Harrison Street and struck a sycamore tree.

The driver, Patricia N. Lewis, 23, of 21 Red Oak Row, told Ptl. John Petrone Jr. that she did not remember anything about the accident. The police investigation revealed her car left the roadway between Clearview Avenue and Valley Road, jumped the curb and rammed into the tree, leaving her 1987 Dodge Colt a total loss. There were no skid marks and no charges by Ptl. Petrone.

Schroeder Fund-Raiser

A fund-raiser for Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., a possible Democratic presidential candidate, will be held Thursday at the home of Ambassador Ann Martindell, 1 Battle Road. It is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Minimum donation is $50.

If she does decide to make a bid for the nomination, Rep. Schroeder would be the first woman in the crowded race.

The event, co-sponsored by Ambassador Martindell and Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund, will attempt to raise at least $5,000. Rep. Schroeder must raise at least this amount from 20 states in order to qualify for matching funds for the presidential race.

Rep. Schroeder is the dean of Congressional women, having first been elected in 1972.

Ms. Lewis was treated at Princeton Medical Center for internal chest injuries. Her passenger, David Lewis, was treated for an injured leg. The mishap took place at 8:32 in the morning.

Cyclist Runs into Car. Early last week, Julie Tufano, 57, 72 Murray Place, ran into the side of a car while riding her bicycle on a Nassau Street sidewalk.

Ms. Tufano fell to the ground after her bicycle ran into the left rear fender of a car, operated by Ruth L. Easley of East Windsor, that was turning left from Nassau onto Olden Street. The victim told Sgt. Donald Dawson, the investigating officer, that the brakes on her bicycle did not work and a check by the officer revealed they were not working properly.

Ms. Tufano was treated at the Medical Center for an acute sprain of her right knee. There were no charges following the accident.

Driver Loses License; For DWI in Twp. Court

In Township court last week, Thomas H. McAden Jr., 745 Trumbull Avenue, Lawrence Township, had his license suspended for six months and was fined $365 for driving while intoxicated. Mr. McAden also received a suspended 30-day sentence to the Mercer County Correctional Center, one year's probation, and was sentenced to 12 hours in the Intoxicated Driver's Resource Center. He was also fined $65 on a second charge of careless driving.

Fined $65 each were Yihong Pan, 177 Meadowbrook Road, careless driving, and Nader Tadros, 40 Linwood Circle, speeding.

Three were fined $60 each Monday in Borough traffic

Our Full-Service Bank Is Arranged
To Meet Your Financial Needs

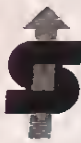

At The Trust Company of Princeton we believe that full-service banking is a performing art. So we concentrate on providing the best financial services for our clients. On-the-spot loan authority, step-by-step follow-through, and extended hours daily and Saturday are only a few of the ways we perform for you.

We are keenly aware of the need for responsive tellers. Phyllis Kurshan, Marle Thompson, Peggy Demarest and Sue Evanko conduct your transactions quickly, efficiently and courteously. They'll assist you with travelers cheques, quote our latest rates, and refer you to the appropriate officer for other personalized financial services.

As an added bonus, our TREASURER™ automatic teller machine allows you the convenience of 24-hour banking, 365 days a year. And you can access your account through any TREASURER™ machine or through the Cirrus, Northeast Exchange and NYCE networks nationwide. We'd be happy to give you a free demonstration.

At The Trust Company of Princeton we want to make you feel glad you came through our door.

Borough Council Seeks Accord with Seminary

Borough Mayor and Council have asked former Borough attorney Walter Bliss to make another attempt to settle the Borough's differences with Princeton Theological Seminary on whether the Seminary should pay taxes on its off-campus faculty residences.

Mayor Barbara Sigmund said the Borough has until July 26 to decide whether to appeal the Appellate Court decision granting tax-exempt status to two Seminary-owned houses, 91 and 93 Mercer Street.

Unless the Borough decides to appeal the decision to the State Supreme Court, it must pay back three years of taxes paid by the Seminary on these properties. This amounts to $30,487.

Borough officials are concerned that the Court ruling would set a precedent, encouraging other institutions, such as Princeton University, to stop paying taxes on their off-campus faculty housing. To date, the University has made no such request.

In a related court ruling last year, the Institute for Advanced Study gained tax-exempt status for its residential housing.

Forty-four percent of property in Princeton Borough is tax-exempt, which means that the remaining 56 percent of property owners make up the entire tax base of the municipality.

30 Births Are Reported At Medical Center Here

In the week ending July 9, there were 17 girls and 13 boys born at Princeton Medical Center.

Daughters were born to John and Susan Coleman, 51 Harrison Street; Alan and Gigi Schumacher, 37 Allison Road, East Windsor; Peter and Gale Freed, 176 Thoreau Road, Plainshoro, all on July 3;

Faculty Appointments Announced by Seminary

Two new faculty members have been appointed to Princeton Theological Seminary. Dennis T. Olson will join the faculty as assistant professor of Old Testament, and Christie C. Neuger will become assistant professor of pastoral theology, both effective September 1.

Mr. Olson is presently an instructor in Old Testament at Luther Northwestern Seminary in St. Paul, Minn. He is an ordained minister in the American Lutheran Church and is serving as pastor of the United Lutheran Church of Frost, Minn. He received his B.A. from Augustana College in Sioux Falls, his M.Div. from Luther Northwestern Seminary, and his M.A., M.Phil., and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University.

Ms. Neuger comes to Princeton from the Foundation for Religion and Mental Health in Sound Shore, Conn., where she is director of the resource center and associate director and staff pastoral psychotherapist of the Sound Shore Counseling Center. She has taught as an adjunct professor at New York Theological Seminary and at the School of Theology at Claremont, and has been on staff at the Pomona Valley Pastoral Counseling and Growth Center.

She is an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church and has served as an associate pastor in Ontario, Calif., and as interim chaplain at the University of Minnesota Hospitals. She received her A.B. from the University of Minnesota, her M.Div. from United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities, and her Ph.D. from the School

Melons, Brook Trout and Corn. A Preview of Freshness

We invite you to enjoy summer . . . Davidson's style, with a preview of colourful freshness.

Throughout the store you'll find ideas that help make the cooking as enjoyable as the compliments that are sure to come.

We've captured the warmth of the sun with big, juicy honeydews, cantaloupes, nectarines and sweet, yellow Jersey corn. We've reached for the coolness of the lakes and seas with delicious Brook Trout and tasty, just-caught bluefish.

There's farm-fresh flavor too, in our tender, Certified Angus Boneless Sirloin . . . and more than a touch of country goodness in the sweet Vermont Cheddar and Jarlsberg Swiss.

A visit to The Deli provides you with lots of creative and surprisingly healthy suggestions . . . like the marvelous, sweet-flavored Boars Head Ham and tasty Spinach and Egg Cheese Tortellini. And our prepared foods make summer livin' easy with a multitude of tempting chicken dishes...everything from roasted and barbecued to fresh made Hawaiian style with pineapple and sweet sauce.

And you'll be delighted with our wonderful, home-baked Apple Cobblers, just waiting for that dabble of accompanying ice cream.

A preview of summer freshness. You betcha. A harbinger of delicious things to come. You can count on it.

For week after week, you'll have the opportunity to choose from the best. At the place where fine food lovers love to gather.

The new Davidson's. It was made for you.

of Theology at Claremont, where she also did her clinical training. At Princeton she will also serve as coordinator of the clinical pastoral education program for the 1987-88 academic year.

In addition to these appointments, the trustees announced two faculty promotions. Katherine Doob Sakenfeld will become professor of Old Testament and Robert Jacks will become assistant director of speech, both effective September 1.

Lt. Hanley Is Graduate Of Virginia FBI Academy

Lt. Peter J. Hanley, a 14-year veteran of the Borough Police Department, graduated last month from the 149th session of the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va.

Lt. Hanley serves as the Operations Officer for the Borough Department. As such, his duties include supervision of all personnel and patrols and traffic enforcement.

At the FBI Academy, Lt. Hanley studied courses in behavioral science, constitutional law, forensics, education communication and management science.

He joins Chief Michael Carnevale and Capt. Thomas Michaud as the only members of the Borough force who have graduated from the FBI Academy — a prestigious school attended by police officers from across the nation and from foreign countries.

Promotions, Appointments Announced by Seminary

The board of trustees of Princeton Theological Seminary has announced three administrative appointments.

James F. Armstrong will become James Lenox Librarian, effective September 1; Dean E. Foote will become alumni/ae secretary and director of placement, effective August 17; and Jeffrey R. Wampler is director of the capital fund campaign, effective July 1, for a three-year term.

Mr. Armstrong is presently registrar and director of research and planning for the Seminary and assistant professor of Old Testament. He has been a member of the faculty since his graduation from the Seminary in 1954, and of the administrative staff as registrar since 1959. An ordained Presbyterian minister, he received an A.B. degree from Macalaster College, a B.D. from Princeton Seminary, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton University.

Mr. Foote comes to his position at the Seminary after 22 years as a pastor. He served churches in Wilmington, Del., and New York City before his call to the Glading Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia in 1972, where he now serves as pastor. He is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and of Princeton Seminary. He has served on the Seminary's Alumni/ae Association Executive Council, most recently as its president.

Mr. Wampler, a 1967 graduate of the Seminary, was pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield from 1982 until his resignation to come to Princeton. He is a graduate of Davidson College and Princeton Seminary, and has served as a member of the Seminary's board of trustees. He begins his present position as the institution is launching a capital fund campaign.

The board also announced the promotion of Judith D. Lang to the position of associate registrar. A graduate of the University of North Carolina, she has been a member of the Seminary staff for 20 years.

New Officers Are Elected By Westminster Board

The Westminster Choir College board of trustees has announced its officers and new members for the 1987-88 academic year.

The officers are Arthur P. Morgan, chairman; James S. Thornton, vice chairman; and Gordon D. Griffin, secretary. The new member, representing the Westminster alumni, is John S. C. Kemp.

Mr. Morgan is a financial consultant with Tucker Capitol Corporation, a bank investment firm in Princeton. He retired in 1982 as executive vice president of Princeton Bank & Trust. A graduate of Princeton University, he is also a member of the Dorothea McLane Foundation's board of trustees.

He has also served on Borough Council, where he was chairman of the finance committee, and was chairman of the Borough Planning and Zoning boards.

Mr. Thornton, formerly manager, International Department, with the Egan Machinery Company in Somerville, is also a resident of Princeton. A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he is active with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, having served as a director since 1981, as chairman of the finance committee, and currently as secretary. Mr. Thornton has also been active for many years with Common Cause, serving as New Jersey vice chairman 1975-76.

Mr. Griffin is a partner in the Princeton law firm of Mason, Griffin and Pierson. He is a graduate of Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. For many years he served as attorney for the Borough and the Township, and also the Township Board of Education.

Past president of the New Jersey Institute of Municipal Attorneys, Mr. Griffin currently is a member of the board of the Princeton unit of Recording for the Blind.

Mr. Kemp received a bachelor's degree from Allegheny College and master of music degree in composition from Westminster Choir College. He is nationally known as a choral conductor and was the executive director of the Choristers' Guild for four years. For 19 years he ran the choral programs at the First Presbyterian Church in Oklahoma City, and from 1972 to 1983 he served as head of the Westminster Church Music Department.

Assistant Dean Is Named By Princeton University

Stephen Cochrane, associate dean of admissions and a residence director at Wheelock College, has accepted a one-year appointment as assistant dean of students at Princeton, effective August 3.

As assistant dean, Mr. Cochrane will address the residential life concerns of juniors and seniors, maintain contacts with campus social and dining facilities as well as with the undergraduate and graduate interclub councils, counsel students regarding housing and dining policies, coordinate resident adviser training, work with handicapped students, and assist the dean with educational programming efforts and special projects.

Mr. Cochrane, a member of Princeton's Class of 1981, worked as an admissions officer at Princeton until 1984, when he became a residence director at Wheelock. In 1985 he assumed his responsibilities in the admissions office there. He earned a master's degree in education at Harvard in 1985, concentrating in administration, planning and social policy.

First Aid Classes Begin At Rehabilitation Center

A session teaching first aid will be held at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center, Lawrenceville Road, on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The basics of first aid will be presented by Jack Forman, emergency medical technician and Lawrence firefighter.

Fee is $8 and pre-registration is required. The next first aid course is scheduled for August 8. For additional information or to register, call 896-9500, extension 319.

Space Day IV Activities Planned at State Museum

Former astronauts Robert Cenker and Terry Hart will take part in Space Day IV activities at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton on Saturday. A full schedule of events is planned from 9 to 4:45.

Mr. Cenker will present an American flag he carried with him aboard the shuttle flight to Major General Charles J. Young, commander of the New Jersey Air National Guard, and Lieutenant Colonel Terry Hart at 3 p.m. in the museum auditorium. Following the presentation, Mr. Cenker will talk about his experiences as a shuttle astronaut.

Speakers from NASA will explain the scientific principles applied to the exploration of space, using simple experiments and scale models of space hardware, at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Special children's workshops dealing with the planet Mars will be offered at 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m., and participants will build a miniature Martian roving vehicle. The program is limited to 25 children. Free helium-filled balloons will be available to those attending Space Day events.

Continuous screening of space-related videotapes, and lectures, will be presented by members of the North Jersey L5 Society and the Space Studies Institute in Princeton. Videotapes will be shown beginning at 10 a.m.

Special planetarium programs include "Tonight's Sky," at 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m., a special show for younger children explaining how to find currently visible planets and bright stars, and "Searching, Seeking, Finding," at 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m., for persons over age seven, which explores the past, present and future of the United States space program.

Programs are also scheduled in the planetarium's solar observatory, weather permitting, at 10 a.m., noon and 2 p.m.

Space Day IV is sponsored by the State Museum and the North Jersey L5 Society. Tickets for all programs will be available throughout the day.

Bus Trips to Philadelphia And to Winery Planned

The YMCA has planned bus trips for adults in July and August.

The first is a historical tour of Philadelphia, which is planned for Saturday, July 25. Departure is at 10:30 from the YMCA, with a return by 6 p.m.

Robert Cenker

The trip will include the Liberty Bell Pavilion, Independence Hall, Congress Hall, Franklin Court, Betsy Ross House, Christ Church, Elfreth's Alley and other places.

The cost is $33, including lunch at a Holiday Inn, the guided tour and transportation. The deadline to sign up is Wednesday, July 15.

The second trip is to the Old Smithville Inn and Renault Winery on Saturday, August 22. Departure is at 10 a.m. from the YWCA with return by 6. The deadline for sign-up is August 15.

The trip includes luncheon at the Smithville Inn followed by browsing time in the Old Smithville Village shops. The afternoon will feature a tasting tour at Renault Winery. The cost is $33.

Individuals are encouraged to bring along families and friends. Participants need not be members of the YMCA. To sign up, stop by at the YMCA office. For more information call 924-4497.

Reading Club Under Way At Rocky Hill Library

Passport to Adventure, the summer reading club at the Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill, is under way. Children ages five through 12 who can read by themselves may register at the library for the club until August 5.

Participants may read as many or as few books as they wish. A certificate of achievement and a Burger King coupon will be awarded to those who read six books. A drawing for prizes will take place weekly.

Preschoolers and their parents may participate in a "Read to Me" program in which a parent reads books to the child over the course of the Reading Club. Certificates will be awarded for completion of the program.

The Reading Club party will be on Saturday, August 8. Entertainment will be provided by folk singer Ian Coates. Refreshments will be served.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information, call the library at 924-7073.

Seminary Vice-President Announces Retirement

Daniel C. Thomas, of Ross Stevenson Circle, will retire on August 1 as vice president for alumni/ae affairs at Princeton Theological Seminary. He has been on the Seminary's administrative staff since 1980 and will become vice-president for alumni/ae affairs emeritus upon his retirement.

Born on Hainan Island in South China, the son of Presbyterian missionary parents, Mr. Thomas has spent his life in service to the Presbyterian Church. After serving as a naval chaplain in World War II, he became assistant pastor and then pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church in New Rochelle, N.Y. In 1958 he was called as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Binghamton, N.Y., and in 1968 went to Allentown, Pa., as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

From 1971-80, Mr. Thomas served as pastor and head of staff at the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church near St. Louis before coming to Princeton. Throughout his career, he has been a member of several boards and agencies of the Presbyterian Church at the national level.

He and his wife, Lois, will continue to live in Princeton.

Four Trips Are Planned For Princeton Seniors

The Recreation Department has four day trips planned for senior citizens.

The first is scheduled for Wednesday, August 26, when the bus will be off to Lily Langtry's at the Sheraton-Valley Forge Hotel to see Manhattan Follies. The cost is $29 for members of the department's Trip Club, while others pay $32.

A guided tour of the West Point Military Academy and the Brotherhood Winery is planned for Friday, September 25. Prices are $32 for members and $35 for others.

On Wednesday, October 21, the group will visit the Riverfront Theatre in Philadelphia to see Chicago. Prices are $31 and $34. The final trip is scheduled for Thursday, November 12, to the Three Little Bakers Theatre in Delaware for a production of The Stingiest Man in Town. Cost to members is $35 and $38 for others.

Prices include deluxe motor-coach transportation as well as lunch. For more information, call the Princeton Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Hot Line Is Available For Medicare Questions

In the 18 months that Medicare Toll-Free Information Service (MTIS) has been assisting senior citizens in New Jersey, it has responded to more than 8,000 people.

MTIS is sponsored by Central Jersey Health Planning Council, Inc., a non-profit, private, health planning and consumer health information service. It is designed to increase public access to information about Medicare benefits, HMOs, "Medigap" insurance, Medicare certified health care facilities, and physicians who accept Medicare assignments.

MTIS is open 9:30 to noon Monday through Friday. The number is 1 800 624-4739.

Waldorf Education Topic Of Talk Friday Evening

The Waldorf School invites the public to a talk on "The Need for Waldorf Education: the Development of the Whole Child" on Friday at 8 at 285 Rosedale Road.

The teachers of the Waldorf School will describe how the curriculum and the way it is taught is geared to an understanding of the stages of the total growth of the child. These ideas were first introduced by Dr. Rudolf Steiner (1861-1925), whose insight into the inner and outer developmental needs of the child were the initial inspiration for the Waldorf School movement.

Waldorf Schools, which number more than 400 throughout the world, offer a curriculum through the 12 grades which integrates at all levels the practical, the artistic and the academic. How the Waldorf teacher views the child at the various stages of growth will be explored in detail on Friday.

The Waldorf School of Princeton is now enrolling children through grade four. An additional grade will be added each year. For information, call 924-6424 or 924-7428.

Storytelling Residency To Be Held at University

Adults interested in learning the art of storytelling are invited to apply to the second annual storytelling residency which will be held from August 2 to 8 at Princeton University. Storytellers Susan Danoff and Ellin Greene will conduct the workshops, designed for teachers, librarians and other adults interested in exploring the possibilities of using storytelling in their work with children.

Each day will include exercises for relaxation, imagery and voice, story practice and research, and discussion of the significance of stories in our lives. Each participant will have the opportunity to focus on a single story and to hear different types of stories and styles of telling. Guest artists will include Carol Birch, storyteller and artistic director of Storytelling Recordings at Weston Woods Studio, and modern dancer Joy Vrooman Sayen.

Ms. Greene is a former associate professor at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School and storytelling specialist at the New York Public Library. She now freelances as consultant, lecturer, writer and storyteller. This past year she taught 4th-6th graders to tell stories as part of Ocean County Library's Storytelling Project.

Ms. Danoff tells international folktales to children and adults. She works as storyteller-in-residence for the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Artists-in-Education Program, sharing stories with children and teachers, teaching children to tell stories, and using stories to help children develop creative writing skills. She also teaches an annual series of storytelling workshops for teachers sponsored by the Friends Council on Education in Philadelphia, and during the current academic year she has been teaching a storytelling workshop series at Princeton University.

The cost of the residency is $475, which includes tuition, room and board. For more information, contact Ellin Greene, 113 Chatham Lane, Point Pleasant 08742 or Susan Danoff, 234 Moore Street, Princeton 08540.

Alcoholism Is the Topic Of Free Medical Lecture

"Getting Alcoholics from Your Office, into Treatment, and Back to Your Office," will be the topic of the third annual Paige D. L'Hommiedieu Memorial Professorship to be held Thursday, July 30, at Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead.

Marc Hertzman, M.D., professor of psychiatry and director, inpatient service, George Washington University School of Medicine, will be the speaker.

The lecture, which is open to the public free of charge, will be given from noon to 1 p.m. in the Atkinson Amphitheater. Free parking is available. For further details, call (201) 874-4000, extension 4461.

Evening Benefit Is Set By Planned Parenthood

Planned Parenthood Association of the Mercer Area will present "An Enchanting Evening" of supper and theater on Thursday, July 30, at Forbes College and McCarter Theatre. The evening will begin at 6 with a picnic on the terrace, proceeding to McCarter Theatre for the 8 p.m. performance of "Some Enchanted Evening," the songs of Rogers and Hammerstein.

Cost is $60 per person. Tickets for McCarter Theatre only may be purchased separately at $20 each. Proceeds will help support the necessary services provided at the six Planned Parenthood sites in Mercer County.

For further information, call 599-3736.

Book Previews on View At the Public Library

"Book Previews II and III," starring Princeton children, will be shown at the Public Library on Wednesday, July 29, at 3:30 p.m. Children ages six and up are invited to see the videotape on the Library's large-screen T.V. No reservations are necessary.

"Book Previews" is a series of five minute "previews" of good books that children in fourth through seventh grades might enjoy reading.

Ten books are included in the programs, which were originally made for cable television. The two shows, each ½-hour long, were produced jointly by the Public Library, Creative Theatre Unlimited, and Home Link Communications, and were a project of the Princeton Youth Fund, Inc.

For further information, call the Public Library's children's department at 924-9529.

Program Is Planned On Nanny Profession

The Sheffield School for Nannies will conduct an open house on Wednesday, July 22, from 7 to 9 p.m. for individuals interested in learning about becoming a certified professional nanny. The school, founded in 1984, trains students in the field of "in-home" child care.

The evening will include a panel discussion, led by Ellyn Sheffield, director of the school, about career opportunities in the nanny profession. Panelists will be available for questions on a group or individual basis.

For additional information, call 737-8813. The school is located in the Hopewell Valley Raquetball and Fitness Center, Titus Mill Road. No pre-registration is required.

New Session Scheduled For Smoke No More

Smoke No More, Princeton Medical Center's smoking cessation program, will begin a public class on Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

The eight session program focuses on changing a specific behavior — smoking — to another specific behavior — not smoking. The program uses exercises to increase self awareness and education to teach participants ways of controlling their smoking behavior.

For information, call Velma Rhodes at 734-4647.

Relationship Workshop Is Planned for Singles

An all-day workshop, "How to Attract the Relationship You've Always Wanted," will be presented by Single Difference, Inc., on Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn, Route 1.

Its organizers have announced a day of active participation in which participants will explore how to attract healthy relationships, remove blocks to meeting people, and incorporate behavior and communication patterns supportive of relationships.

Advance registration is required. For further information, call 452-1163 or (201) 542-7223.

Recreation Department Needs Aerobics Teacher

The Recreation Department is accepting applications for an aerobics instructor. The current program runs year-round with morning classes held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays (9:30-10:30 a.m.) and evening classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays (6:00-7:00 p.m.). Classes are held at the Suzanne Patterson Center behind Borough Hall.

Anyone interested in this position should send a resume along with references and salary history to the attention of Tom Mladenetz, Princeton Recreation Department.

PEOPLE in the News

William K. Selden has undertaken a comprehensive report describing Princeton University at three different moments in its nearly 250-year history. He calls the book, which has been printed by the University printing services, Princeton — the best old place of all.

Not the nostalgia trip that the title suggests, the book catalogues everything knowable about Princeton in the years 1884, 1934 and 1984. A member of the Class of 1934 who has spent much of his career in educational administration — which entailed writing detailed reports — Mr. Selden first puts himself in the shoes of those who entered with the Class of 1884.

He describes in as much detail as he can muster from painstaking research in Seeley Mudd Library, where the University archives are housed, more about that era than has possibly been compiled heretofore in one place. We are told just which buildings existed on campus at the time, who trustees were, what the curriculum entailed, how many janitors and how much they and the faculty were paid. Student life, dining arrangements, athletics, finances, admissions, goings on in the town and the world are all reported in concrete and specific detail.

Next Mr. Selden turns to 1934, when about half the 60 members of the Class of 1884 returned to Princeton for their 50th reunion, and his 451 graduating classmates were facing dim prospects because of the Great Depression. Again, the reporting on all facets of University life is comprehensive and the earlier era is used as a baseline.

The longest section, however, is the one devoted to 1984, and rightly so, for by then the University had evolved into a major research facility along with expansion of undergraduate and graduate teaching programs. The book is crammed with names and numbers without losing readability and interest. It is enlivened with a sprinkling of particularly adept Henry Martin cartoons poking fun at the Princeton image.

Mr. Selden and his wife have made a gift of a copy of Princeton — the best old place of all to each of his surviving classmates. The book is available at the U-Store for $5. All proceeds support the Class of 1934's Special Assistance Fund, which provides small grants to aid undergraduates.

Sandra B. Simkins, of Princeton Junction, a University of Delaware graduating senior majoring in economics and political science, was one of 16 students awarded a certificate of recognition for her involvement during the 1986-1987 academic year on the board of trustees. She served on the executive committee.

Elizabeth S. Kelly, formerly of Princeton, has been named director of public relations and publications for Nichols College, Dudley, Mass.

A graduate of Rutgers University and the Choate Rosemary Hall School, she also attended the Hun School and Stuart Country Day School.

Ladislav D. Vostrovsky, son of Ladislav J. and Susan A. Vostrovsky, 1201 Canal Road, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of specialist four.

Maurice C. Oldham, son of Mamie Oldham, 16 Clay Street, has received a master's in business administration from Atlanta University, Atlanta, Ga.

Katharine C. Atcheson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Atcheson, 39 Wallace Road, Princeton Junction, has graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio.

A graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School and a theater major, she received the Women's Studies Prize for Feminist Creative Expression.

Jonathan Jaffin, son of Charles L. and Rosanna W. Jaffin, 522 Rosedale Road, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of major. He is a staff general surgeon at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington.

Robert B. Hargraves, The Great Road, on leave this spring as a professor in the Department of Geological and Geophysical Sciences at Princeton University, is serving as petrologist aboard a research ship in the Indian Ocean.

He is one of 25 scientists from the U.S. and eight other countries who are participants in an ocean drilling program to discover more about the earth's physical history by probing beneath the ocean floor. The expedition marks the first of a nine-cruise investigation into the earth's physical history beneath the Indian Ocean, said to be the least scientifically explored of the earth's major oceans.

The research ship is called the JOIDES Resolution, the acronym standing for Joint Oceanographic Institutions for Deep Earth Sampling. It is equipped with laboratories for studies in chemical, gas and physical properties, paleontology, petrology, paleomagnetism and sedimentology.

Sidney Whitman, D.D.S., 52 Florence Lane, has been named president of the Mercer Dental Society. He is a pedodontist-orthodontist in group practice in Hamilton Township.

Dr. Whitman is chairman of the Department of Pediatric Dentistry at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, co-chairman of the American Fund for Dental Health in New Jersey, and secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey Association of Pediatric Dentists.

Jean B. Pariso, 404 Skillman Road, Skillman, has joined the sales staff of Richard A. Weidel Corporation Realtors' Hopewell office. For nearly ten years she was public relations director of Cushman & Wakefield. She also served as public relations director and development director of the Princeton Ballet Society, and assistant director of the Princeton Area Council of Community Services.

Three Princeton area families living in Hong Kong on assignment by U.S. multinational companies found themselves residents of the same high rise apartment building in Hong Kong.

They are Patricia and Wayne Cooke of Beech Hill Circle, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barringer of The Great Road, and Al and Marylou Staymie of West Windsor. Seventeen-year-old Scott Cooke went for a swim in the pool at the apartment and discovered Diane Barringer, who had been in 7th grade with him in Princeton. Subsequently Mrs. Cooke bumped into the Staymies in the elevator. All three couples then got together for dinner.

Mr. Cooke and Mr. Staymie are both with IBM, while Mr. Barringer is with Chase Manhattan Bank. The Cookes are back in Princeton for the summer and to make a tour of colleges with Scott, who will be a senior at the Hong Kong International School this year.

Mrs. Cooke says that compared to Hong Kong, Princeton is "blissfully green and spacious." She says that except for the oppressive heat and the pervasive crowds, she is enjoying living there and working for a relocations company that specializes in acclimating foreigners to the city.

James O. Kruhly, AIA, 209 Moore Street, principal of the firm of James Oleg Kruhly & Associates, Philadelphia, has received the first annual Young Architect Award from the Philadelphia chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

He earned a master's of architecture degree from the Yale School of Architecture and a bachelor's degree, cum laude, with distinction in architecture, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Thomas R. O'Kane, of Princeton Junction, assistant personnel director of The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, has been installed as president of the International Personnel Management Association's (IPMA) Eastern Region.

IPMA fosters sound personnel policy and practices in the public sector and represents the interests of more than 50,000 public personnel professionals in the United States and abroad.

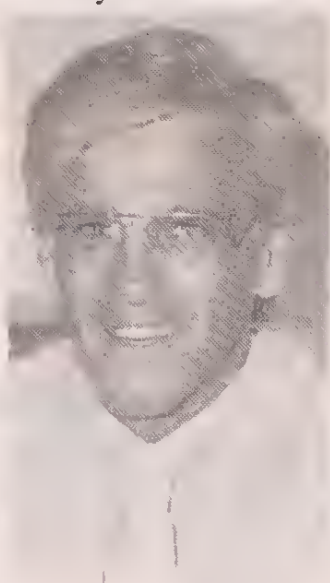

Mr. O'Kane joined the Port Authority in 1962 and served in various positions in the agency's personnel department before being appointed assistant personnel director in 1984.

Pvt. Shane L. Parisi, son of Mike L. Vanatta, 4 Lou Ellen Street, Hopewell, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Joan Goldstein of Lakeview Terrace has been elected to the environmental sociology council of the American Sociological Association, a national professional organization.

Dr. Goldstein is the author of books in the field of environment, public health, and energy management. One book on the Pine Barrens was nominated for an ASA award and funded by the Resources for the Future Foundation. The Politics of Offshore Oil, her second book, carries a foreword by Sen. Bill Bradley, and was the subject of a Today Show NBC interview.

Dr. Goldstein served on a White House technical advisory committee on offshore oil leasing, and for nine years served as a member of the New Jersey State Public Health Council, appointed by the governor and secretary of the council.

Milton D. Johnson, 60 Hamilton Lane, Plainsboro, has been appointed area manager for the U.S. Department of Energy's Princeton-area office. He has been the acting area manager since last August.

Dr. Johnson will be responsible for the administration and oversight of the U.S. Department of Energy's contract with Princeton University to manage the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory and for the proposed Compact Ignition Tokamak project.

Dr. Johnson received his B.S. and M.S. in engineering from the University of Arizona and his Ph.D. in plasma physics from Cornell University. He worked as an electrical engineer at the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory and as a research engineer at Cornell University before joining the Atomic Energy Commission (now the U.S. Department of Energy) in 1975 as a member of the Controlled Thermonuclear Division in the Office of Fusion Energy.

In 1980, he came to the Princeton Fusion Program Office as chief of the engineering and physics branch. He was named the assistant area manager for the Princeton area office in 1983.

Two Moravian College seniors and recent graduates have been named to the Dean's List for the spring term. They are George W. Allen, 29 Alexander Street, and Kristin A. Carlson, 400 South Main Street, Pennington.

Historian Constance M. Greiff has written a new book, Independence: The Creation of a Notional Park, published by the University of Pennsylvania Press.

Independence National Historic Park in Philadelphia is the historic site most closely connected with the creation of the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution. Mrs. Greiff chronicles the history of the creation of an urban historic park containing within it Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell.

She describes how the park was shaped by national events and conditions in Philadelphia, change and growth within the National Park Service, and interpersonal and political struggles among the key people involved in the park's development. Considerable attention is given to the process by which the participants arrived at the ideas and philosophies underpinning the park's creation and development, the conflicting views about the purpose and scope of the park, and the resolution of these conflicts.

Mrs. Greiff is president of Heritage Studies in Hopewell, author of Lost America, and co-author of Princeton Architecture.

Hiroko Yoshikawa Sherwin, 15 Poor Farm Road, visited the refugee camps in Thailand as a member of Citizens Commission on Indo-Chinese Refugees. The commission consisted of seven members, including Bayard Rustin and Liv Ullman.

The commission's mission was to investigate the refugee situation and make recommendations to the United States and Thai authorities.

Ms. Sherwin, a correspondent for a Japanese newspaper, concluded that it is urgent that the international community bring pressure on the Vietnamese government to withdraw its troops from Cambodia and Laos and to allow people to leave Vietnam under the Orderly Departure Program. She also called for the Thai government to permit better conditions and provide secondary education in the camps.

Dawn Collins of Quarry Street is the Youth Advisory Delegate to the Synod of the Northeast - Presbyterian Church USA. She represented the New Brunswick Presbytery at a recent conference at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

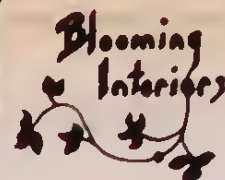

Dawn is a member of the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church; her pastor is the Rev. Adrian McFarlane. She is a 1987 graduate of Stuart Country Day School and will be attending the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

Seven area residents have received promotions at Rutgers University.

They are, Gregory Cherlin, 85 Clearview Avenue; Norman Hammond, 10 Pelham Street; Stephen Hansell, 36 Sayre Drive; James C. Scott, 267 Russell Road; Jean Taylor, 83 Riverside Drive; Mark D. Feigenson, 50 Princeton Avenue, Hopewell; and Stephen C. Danforth, 15 Cairns Place, Belle Mead.

Carl W. Schafer, 44 Lake Lane, financial vice-president and treasurer of Princeton University, was elected a member of the board of managers of the American Bible Society at its 171st annual meeting in New York. He will serve on the finance committee.

He serves as a director or trustee of many corporations and foundations, including Wainco Oil Corporation and the Kidder, Peabody group of mutual funds. He is also co-chairman of the New Jersey Governor's Task Force on Improving New Jersey's Economic and Regulatory Climate.

New Solar-Power Satellite Is Designed by Area Firm

A small Princeton company has revealed a design for a solar power satellite that could surpass the Soviet plans for building such a satellite in the 1990's.

The new design, proposed by the Space Studies Institute (SSI), would be built mainly from materials already in space. Less than one percent of the satellite's mass would have to be launched from the Earth, greatly reducing the cost of pollution-free energy from space. A single power satellite could supply enough energy to power a city the size of Chicago or Houston.

SSI research in this area began when United States plans were halted after the National Research Council suggested that the cost of launching the construction materials for these satellites would be prohibitive. Since 1977, SSI has pioneered techniques for launching and processing lunar materials for the construction of space equipment and habitats. Although the SSI design is eight percent heavier than the original U.S. solar power satellite designs, the use of lunar materials dramatically lowers the overall transportation cost.

In addition to its work on solar power satellites, SSI has built and demonstrated electromagnetic launch equipment and proved the feasibility of getting oxygen, silicon and metals from lunar soil. SSI is currently developing techniques for the creation of fiberglass-like building materials from lunar glass.

The Institute was founded in 1977 by Dr. Gerard K. O'Neill, professor emeritus of physics at Princeton University, and author of The High Frontier and The Technology Edge.

Area Ad Agency Is Sold To Advertising Execs

Mort Barish Associates, Research Park, a long-time area advertising agency, has been sold to John Carlino Associates, a firm headed by John Carlino and Molly Bograd, two former executives of Keyes Martin, a Springfield advertising agency.

The new company, which will be known as Carlino/Barish, will operate out of the Research Park offices. Mr. Barish will remain an associate until 1991.

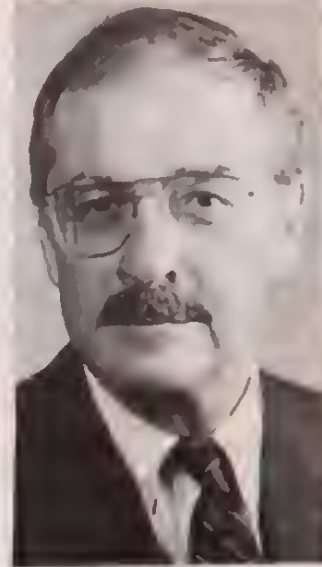

Personnel Notes

Frank P. Reiche has joined the Lawrenceville law firm of Katzenbach, Gildea & Rudner as a partner. He practiced in the Princeton area for 18 years before being appointed to the Federal Election Commission by President Jimmy Carter in 1979. He served as a member of the commission for six years and as its chairman in 1982.

Joseph A. Ascione of Plainsboro has joined the Princeton/Trenton law firm of Sterns, Herbert, Weinroth & Petrino as a principal specializing in taxation. He was formerly a name partner in Fischer, Kagan, Ascione, Zaretsky & Scarinci, Clifton and New York City.

James E. Doyle, 23 Bayberry Road, Hopewell Township, has joined Horizon Trust Company as vice president in the firm's Princeton office. He was most recently associated with United Jersey Bank, Princeton.

Mr. Doyle is a member of the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club, serves as a board member of Stuart Country Day School, and is a former trustee of the Princeton YMCA.

James H. Atherton, Steven J. Connor, and Nicholas Kudrjashev have received Outstanding Achievement Awards from Siemens Corporate Research & Support, Inc., Research and Technology Laboratories, Forrestal Center.

The laboratories conduct basic and applied research and exploratory development in many different disciplines relating to the Siemens product organization in the United States.

Douglas Winship has joined SeaPharm Inc., Princeton, as manager-drug regulatory affairs. SeaPharm is an international marine biotechnology company.

BITNET, Princeton, an international computer network for higher education, has elected new officers.

They are, Ira Fuchs, Princeton University, president; Phillip Long, Yale University, vice president; Leland Williams, Triangle Universities Computation Center, secretary; and Raymond Neff, University of California-Berkeley, treasurer.

Grant D. Green, 44 Rollingmead, has opened a real estate counseling practice with offices at 103 Carnegie Center.

Mr. Green is a member of the American Society of Real Estate Counselors which has granted him the professional designation CRE or Counselor of Real Estate. His counseling practice provides its clients with advice and assistance on a fee basis and specializes in all aspects of real estate, including merchandising, leasing, management planning, financing and developing. It will serve corporate, institutional and private clients, as well as trusts and estates, both locally and nationally.

Mr. Green was director of the Real Estate Department at Princeton University from 1969 to 1978 and played a role in the planning and implementation of Princeton Forrestal Center, the University's 2,250-acre mixed-use real estate development which presaged the current activity along the Route 1 corridor.

Clean Water and You

What You Can Do about "Non-point Source" Pollution

Tips from the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection

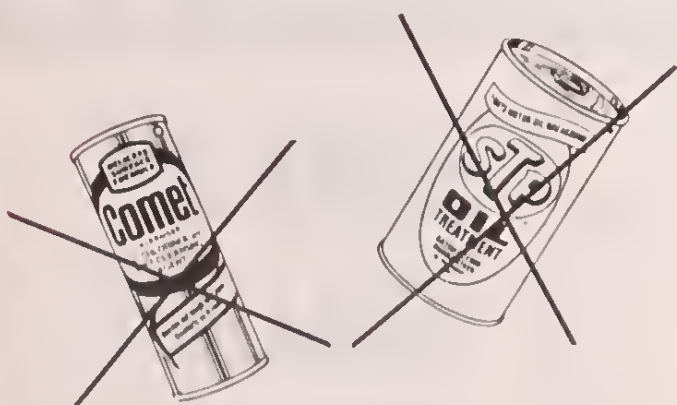

Local, state and federal environmental agencies have identified non-point source pollution (NPS) as the next major challenge in the battle for improved water quality.

NPS is water pollution from many diffuse sources rather than from the "point sources" of discharges from sewage treatment or industrial waste treatment plants. Examples of NPS are animal wastes and fertilizer carried into streams by storm water run-off, grass clippings and unwanted household chemicals dumped into storm drains, and discharges from boats and marinas.

Wastes and chemicals from many small sources can combine to make big pollution problems for beaches, lakes and streams. Here are actions You can take to help combat NPS and protect precious water sources.

Motor Oil and Household Chemicals

- A quart of motor oil could contaminate thousands of gallons of drinking water. New Jersey requires that service stations providing oil changes must accept used oil from individuals for recycling. Always recycle your oil in this way.
- Many household chemicals also contain hazardous substances that should be kept out of water supplies. Use non-hazardous alternatives where possible; baking soda as a substitute for abrasive scouring powders, boiling water instead of drain cleaners.
- Buy only as much as you will use of products containing hazardous chemicals. Store carefully, and keep labels for easy identification.
- Never dump unwanted chemicals on the ground or down catch basins or storm drains.

Stormwater Run-off

- Landscape your yard so that grass and trees help to retain stormwater and reduce the amount of run-off from your property. Soil has the ability to break down many pollutants, so flowing rainwater should be slowed by vegetation wherever possible.
- Don't dispose of leaves or grass clippings through your stormwater collection system. These will be carried into local streams and contribute to pollution.

Animal Wastes

- Walk pets in grassy areas, parks or undeveloped areas; pet wastes on pavements will be carried by stormwater into streams.
- Use a plastic bag to pick up pets wastes if possible, and dispose of the wastes in your garbage.

Septic Systems

- Have your septic system pumped regularly, usually every three to five years. Have it inspected every year or two to make sure it is operating properly.
- Never dispose of toxic and hazardous chemicals in your septic system. These can contaminate ground-water supplies.

Pesticides and Fertilizers

- Make sure that the pesticides and fertilizers you use are the appropriate ones for your situation.
- Dispose of pesticides properly — call your local health department for information.

Boating

- Use on-shore rest rooms and pump-out facilities wherever possible. Never release garbage or raw sewage into coastal waters.
- Use extreme caution to prevent spills when applying cleansers, paint and antifouling compounds to your boat, and avoid using these where possible.

TWO PLANS FOR IMPROVING TRAFFIC FLOW AT DAVIDSON'S NEW LOCATION: The Borough would like to build a one-way road on University property behind Davidson's to Olden Street. The University has countered with a plan for a road behind Wawa that would turn left and run between Wawa and the Exxon Service Station, exiting on to Nassau near Maple. The shaded portion of the Wawa building, once occupied by Somerset Farms, would be demolished. A parking deck, behind Wawa, has also been proposed by the University.

Nassau Street exit proposed by the Borough are superior to those at the exit recommended by the University.

The University's plan also calls for the creation of a parking deck in the rear of Wawa. This would contain some 50 spaces and would be constructed over the Engineering School parking lot. The deck would be built to take advantage of the area's natural grade.

Mayor Sigmund, however, said she would prefer that the deck be built behind Davidson's, rather than at Wawa.

The Borough's concept, announced shortly after Davidson's made public its plans to move to the former Volvo Building, involves constructing a new roadway around the back of Davidson's, out to Olden Street, and back onto Nassau Street. Both the University and the Borough foresee a traffic light on Nassau Street at the point of exit — whether the exit is at Olden Street (the Borough plan) or at a point adjacent to Maple Street (the University's plan).

University Vice President for Public Affairs Robert Durkee said that a number of Engineering School faculty are concerned about the Borough's plans. They are worried, he said, about the road's effect on delicate instruments and its proximity to the Engineering School library. A recent study done by Prof. Alain Kornhauser at the Engineering School concluded that the Borough's proposed roadway would not measurably improve traffic flow, reported Mr. Durkee.

Also, the University is planning additional development at the Engineering School — development, noted Mr. Durkee, that is being encouraged by the State. These plans could also conceivably have an impact on the school's physical relationship to the Borough road.

The University would like the return of its right-of-way, granted to the Borough when the Engineering School was built. This right-of-way, which parallels the rear of properties from Davidson's west to Olden Street, would be used by the Borough if it constructed its proposed artery.

The University's proposal would require its roadway to go through the former Somerset Farms store, which juts out from the Wawa building. This is owned by Martin Bratman, of Lawrenceville.

Mr. Durkee said that the University would be willing to purchase from the Borough the right-of-way it ceded decades ago. "This money might be used to purchase the small building at Wawa from its owner," he said.

University officials are hoping to convince Borough officials that their plan deals effectively with the Borough's goals for the east end of Nassau Street.

Mayor Sigmund, however, questioned whether the plan addresses the Borough's four stated goals for this part of town. These, she said, are better traffic circulation, more parking, providing the opportunity for a safe left turn on Nassau Street, and providing safe pedestrian crossings on Nassau Street.

Another 15 acres are shown across the front of the property, along Rosedale Road. The rest is in pockets, some quite small, others much larger, around which the building lots have been arranged.

The plan as it will be presented to the Planning Board shows a total of 103 lots. Eighty-five are designated for single-family homes, and there are 18 multi-family "manor homes" planned, containing 54 dwelling units in all.

The Planning Board file also contains a letter from Philip and Louise Baltzer of 536 Rosedale Road, objecting to the size of the development. Their objection is centered on the fact that traffic on Rosedale Road is "already hideous" at rush hours. They also object from the point of view of "preserving the existing western Princeton environment which has resulted from an average of two acres per dwelling unit."

On behalf of the Planning Board, Planning Director Dugan Kimball suggests that the developer should provide additional setback, identify and respect the stream corridors and make sure the road system reflects the rural character of the site.

He also cautions that if proposed changes in the Township's affordable housing RM or residential moderate zones are enacted, the concept plan will have to be re-drawn to reflect those changes. The changes are expected to reduce the density of housing permitted in these zones to reflect reductions in the affordable housing program requirements since the zones were established.

An entrance is shown from Rosedale Road, and another on Province Line Road, with an existing cartway or walking path to Province Line Road also shown for a short distance. There is one major loop road shown extending almost the length of the property, with another shorter loop road at the back.

Mr. Nalitt is the developer of 23 period homes selling for $1 million in the Todd Hill section of Staten Island. Robert A.M. Stern was the architect.

Children's Programs Now At West Windsor Library

Children's summer programming at the West Windsor branch of the Mercer County Library is under way, with emphasis on "Scale the Heights with Books," a summer-long club for school-age readers and pre-school listeners.

Each child registering for the club will be assigned to a team, which will compete against three other teams in reading the most library books during the summer. Each child who reads at least five library books will be eligible to attend the summer reading club party.

Pre-school storytimes continue during the summer. Two- and three-year-olds meet Thursdays from 10:30 to 11 a.m. Parents remain in the room with their children. Four- and five-year-olds meet Thursdays from 1:30 to 2 and Fridays from 10:30 to 11. Parents must remain in the library building. Registration is required.

Programs for children six and up are planned for Thursday afternoons from 3 to 4. Call the library at 799-0462 for further information or to register for any program.

'Bringing in the Sheaves' At Howell Farm Saturday

The annual ritual of bringing in the sheaves became part of America's history nearly a century ago. But history still lives at the Mercer County Park Commission's Howell Farm.

On Saturday, visitors to the 126-acre working, historical farm can join farmers as they bring in the wheat, build 15-foot high stacks, and process grain to bread. The program begins at 10 and continues until 4.

There will be a craft program for children on pressed flowers, from 11 to 3.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road, one mile east of the Belle Mountain Ski Area in Hopewell Township. Admission and activities are free.

Juggling Program Is Set By Rocky Hill Library

The Mary Jacobs Library in

Rocky Hill will present a juggling program, with Sterling Zumbrunn, on Monday at 10:30.

Mr. Zumbrunn will demonstrate various types of juggling. Children age 6 and over are invited to remain after the demonstration for a teaching session. Those children receiving juggling instruction should bring two tennis balls.

This program is free and open to the public.

CPR Class Is Scheduled At Lawrenceville Site

An all-day CPR training session will be held at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center, Lawrenceville Road, on Saturday, July 25, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The course, which will present Red Cross techniques of cardiopulmonary resuscitation, will be given by Jack Forman, emergency medical technician and firefighter for Lawrence Township. Fee is $5, and pre-registration is required. Additional CPR sessions will be held on August 10, 11 and 13.

For further information, or to register, call 896-9500, extension 319.

OBITUARIES

Ruth W. Homrighausen, 84, died July 7 at Princeton Medical Center. Wife of the late Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, who was dean of Princeton Theological Seminary from 1955 to 1970, she lived in Princeton for 47 years before moving to Meadow Lakes in Hightstown. She was born in Sheboygan, Wisc.

Mrs. Homrighausen was a member of the Nassau Presbyterian Church where she served as an elder and a deacon. She was also a member of the Present Day Club, the P.E.O. and the Forty-niners.

Surviving are four sons, Richard J. of Moraga, Calif., Paul E. of Kentfield, Calif., David K. of New York City, and John F. Homrighausen of Ewing; two daughters, Ruth K. Taylor of Troy, Mich., and Mary E. Candland of Lewisburg, Pa.; and 15 grandchildren.

A memorial service was held at Miller Chapel at Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Wallace M. Alston Jr., pastor of Nassau Presbyterian Church, and Dr. James I. McCord, former president of Princeton Theological Seminary, officiated. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the E.G. Homrighausen Scholarship Endowment Fund, Princeton Theological Seminary, CN 821, Princeton 08542.

Kathryn H. Stroup, 72, of Princeton, died July 10 at Princeton Medical Center after a short illness.

Born in Bangor, Pa., Mrs. Stroup lived in Princeton for 32 years. A graduate of West Chester, Pa., University, with a bachelor's degree in music, she was a music teacher at the Nassau Street School for many years. She was also a former musical director and piano accompanist for the Princeton Ballet Society and an accompanist for professional and amateur musicians and choral groups.

She was a member of the Princeton United Methodist Church and a former choir director and member of the Princeton United Methodist Women.

Surviving are her husband, Chester R. Stroup, former Nassau Street School principal and superintendent of the Borough Schools; two sons, Ralph F. of Orange, Conn., and Frederick C. Stroup of Birmingham, Ala.; a daughter, Janet S. Beavers of Stanhope; a brother, Elmer Hartzell of Easton, Pa.; and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held Sunday at 2 at the Princeton United Methodist Church. The Rev. Dr. James H. Harris Jr., pastor, will officiate. Burial was private. Memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton United Methodist Church Music Fund, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue, Princeton 08542.

Joseph T. Turner, 89, of Lewisville Road, Lawrence Township, died July 8 at his home.

Born in Port Penn, Del., Mr. Turner lived in Lawrence Township for more than 40 years and was a retired employee of the Jigger Shop in Lawrenceville. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War I and a member of Charles Robins Post 218 of the American Legion.

Husband of the late Helen Turner, he is survived by several cousins, including Mary Ferguson with whom he lived, Fred and Steve LeCompt of Lawrence, Paul LeCompt of Willingboro and Frances Ballton of San Diego, Calif.; a sister-in-law, Florence Turner; and many other relatives.

The service was held at a Trenton funeral home, the Rev. G. Howard Hunt, pastor of Jacobs Chapel A.M.E. Church in Mount Laurel, officiating. Burial was in Fountain Lawn Memorial Park.

Vence M. Bielawski, 67, of Carter Road, died July 9 at his home.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Mr. Bielawski had lived in the Princeton and Trenton areas for the past 61 years. He served overseas in the U.S. Army during World War II and received the Purple Heart. He attended St. John Kanty College in Erie, Pa., and later Rutgers University. He was the chairman of the board and past president of New Jersey Porcelain Co., treasurer of White Eagle Printing Co., and a member of the board of directors of Wenzel Tile Co.

Mr. Bielawski was a charter member and past president of the Polish Arts Club of Trenton; an active supporter of the Orchard Lake Schools; a member of the Trenton Polish Business and Professional Men's Club; the Hopewell Golf Club, the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce; the American Ceramic Society, and the Blue Devils 88th Division Association.

He is survived by his wife, Valeria A. Bielawski; two sons and a daughter-in-law, Stephen M. and Gayle Bielawski of Hopewell and Donald A. Bielawski at home; two daughters and a son-in-law, Jane K. and Walter J. Kocubinski of Stockton and Jill A. Bielawski of Tucson, Ariz.; a brother, A. Thad Bielawski of Titusville;

Also, four sisters, Stella J. Krupa of Hamilton, Loretta B.

Daunis of Lawrence, Frances B. Potkay of Robbinsville, and Julie E. Kisluk of Dublin, N.H.; and four grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Hedwig's Church in Ewing, with interment in St. Hedwig's Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Samaritan Hospice, 214 West Second Street, PO Box A, Moorestown 08057.

Lawrence D. Hammond, 36, of New York City, formerly of Princeton, died July 12. He was a cameraman for WABC Channel 7 in New York City.

Born in Charleston, W. Va., Mr. Hammond lived in Princeton most of his life before moving to New York nine years ago. He graduated from Princeton High School and received his bachelor's degree from the University of Denver. He began his career as a cameraman with New Jersey Network in Trenton before going to ABC.

He was a member of the production crew for the television program "All My Children" and received commendations from ABC for work at the Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y., the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles and the World Series. He also worked with Barbara Walters, Dick Clark and Merv Griffin and did free-lance camera work.

Mr. Hammond received seven Emmy Awards from 1977 to 1985 and was listed in the 1981 Outstanding Young Men of America. He was also honored by the Foster Parents Plan and the United Fund.

He is survived by his wife, Sharon Hammond of New York City; his parents, Gilbert and Arvon Hammond of Lawrenceville; two brothers, Harvey H. of Trenton and Lionel Hammond of Fort Hamilton, N.Y.; and a sister, Joyce A. Hammond of Malibu, Calif. The service was scheduled to be held this Wednesday at 8 p.m. at First Baptist Church, the Rev. Michael Nabors, pastor, officiating. Burial will be Thursday at 10 in Ewing Cemetery. Calling hours will be this Wednesday from 6 until time of the service at the church.

Bulletin Notes

St. Charles Borromeo Church has announced that plans are under way for the fifth annual parish picnic to be held on August 16.

Dennis and Beth Creason, with Mary and James Lotze, will jointly chair the affair and are in the process of forming committees for the various functions. The annual picnic has become an important family social event, bringing together members of the parish. This year's event also commemorates the fifth anniversary of the founding of the parish.

The picnic will be held at the Central Masonic Center on River Road and will be preceded by an outdoor mass. All the proceeds from the event are earmarked for the St. Charles Borromeo Scholarship Fund. This award is made each year to an outstanding high school graduating youth of the parish at a Baccalaureate Mass in honor of the graduating seniors.

The Men's Day Committee of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church will hold a Rummage and Bake Sale Saturday, starting at 9:30. There will be refreshments. The church is at 170 Withers-

ANNOUNCING THE GRAND OPENING OF KINGSBROOK COUNTRY ESTATES.

This is one grand opening to get to early. Kingsbrook Country Estates. A community of homes so imaginatively designed and impeccably detailed, our entire Phase I and Phase II production — 31 out of 86 homes — sold out on the strength of the plans alone.

That there will be only 86 homes is one reason why. It's not just the exclusivity. It's the fact that more than half of Kingsbrook will be left absolutely undisturbed. There's no way it could be improved.

You might say the same about the homes; four stately, lavishly appointed models, each custom built to your specifications. And the location; just 4½ miles — a 10 minute drive — from downtown Princeton.

Three spectacular models are now open. And considering how fast Phases I and II sold out, you can imagine how fast Phase III will go now. There's already a waiting list. It's developing into something even more exclusive every day.

A Villa With A View

This magnificent villa could grace the shores of the Mediterranean but is perfectly adapted to a beautiful hillside amid eleven acres of sweeping lawns and glorious woodland just north of Princeton in Montgomery Township. A long wooded lane leads to this impressive residence in a charming setting of luxuriant plantings and flowering shrubs. Massive double doors open to a dramatic interior bathed in sun from skylights high above. The glass wall of the two story foyer overlooks a large walled terrace and a breathtaking view beyond. The highlight of the elegant living room is a 14th century sandstone fireplace. Adjoining it are a library, powder room and study. The formal dining room is spacious and opens to a superb kitchen with breakfast room. A maid's room with bath completes the first floor. On the second floor, the master bedroom and bath (with sauna) are luxurious. The attractive guest room has a fireplace and full bath. There are five other bedrooms and 2 baths in a children's wing. The above-ground lower level includes a recreation room with bar and a game room. A beautiful heated pool with spa and lighted tennis court promise many pleasant hours of recreation.

A Further Look at the Origins Of Street Names in Princeton

Princeton has some 325 street names — more if all the "courts" and "rows" of recent townhouse developments are counted.

Some took their names from the farmsteads and large estates in which Princeton was developed in the 17th and 18th centuries. Springdale, for instance, was the name of a large farm owned originally by Richard Stockton and located where Springdale Golf Club and the Graduate College are today. Morven, which Annis Boudinot Stockton is said to have selected from poems of Ossian as the title for the 17th century Stockton mansion, survives also in a street name.

Mansgrove was the name Judge Leonard Thomas, an early and ubiquitous landowner, gave to the home he built on property he acquired from the Stockton family in the vicinity of Mt. Lucas Road. Edgers-toune was the title of the extensive manor house and grounds of Archibald D. Russell, whose name also survives in Russell Road and the Russell Estates.

Prospect Avenue was opened east of the property where Colonel George Morgan, western explorer, United States Agent for Indian Affairs and gentleman farmer, built a stone farm house on the crest of a hill where there was a superb "prospect" to the east. Subsequently replaced by a mansion designed by John Notman, Prospect later became the residence for the president of Princeton and is now is the faculty club and dining facility.

Family Homes. Stanworth was the name of the Bayard Lane residence of Prof. William M. Sloane, an historian, while Riverside, on the other side of town, was the Edward Howe family residence. Snowden Lane led to the farm where Samuel Finley Snowden, an early pastor of First Presbyterian Church, grew up. His father, Isaac, became an elder in the church

Butler Tract Street Names

The Butler tract, a post-World War II development for married graduate students returning to study under the G.I. Bill, is located on a portion of what was the Gray Farm.

Closely bound up with the creation of Lake Carnegie, it was named for the two brothers, archaeologist and professor of architecture Howard Russell Butler and his brother William Allen Butler who were part of a syndicate that purchased the 93-acre farm and donated 14 acres for the lake. The balance was given to Princeton University after their mother retired the mortgage.

Some of this land became the University polo field, and after the war, the site of 252 barrack-type "temporary" housing units. The rest became the McCosh and Maclean Circles under the University's "Gray Farm Housing Plan."

Streets in the Butler tract were named for World War II military heroes: Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gen. George C. Marshall, both of the U.S. Army, Admiral William Halsey and Admiral Ernest J. King of the U.S. Navy, and Col. James Devereux of the U.S. Marine Corps. and the hero of Wake Island. Thus, Eisenhower is honored as a general and not as president, and King Street does not commemorate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., as was suggested in last week's issue.

and helped develop the first fire company.

The time it took to arrive at one farmhouse way off in the country is said to be the reason for the naming of Journey's End Lane. Mt. Lucas may have been derived from a Charles Lucas, a property owner, or from "Lucius," the pen name of Richard Stockton, who owned a farm in the vicinity. The first public school in Princeton was the Mt. Lucas School, but earlier there was an orphanage called the Mt. Lucas Orphan and Guardian Institute, which in 1866 became the Township Poor Farm — hence Poor Farm Road.

According to one source, Mt. Lucas Road was called the Great Road at one time, while The Great Road was the Cedar Grove Road because it led to the Cedar Grove community settled by French Huguenots. However, Wanda Gunning suggests that any cartway more than a "rod" wide (16½ feet) and of a certain length became known as "The Great Road." Herrontown Lane, another early Princeton thoroughfare, is probably a corruption of "Herring Town Lane," named for the Herring families who owned property there and across what is now Route 206 in the vicinity of Arreton Road. Thus Princeton Community Housing officials were not so far off geographically and historically when they proposed to name their new development "Herrontown Green."

Developer's Choice. Historically, Princeton has grown as developers purchased property and subdivided it into building lots. The developers named the streets through the tract for themselves, their families and friends, and according to their fancy. The naming of Charlton Street, according to Princeton historian John Hagaman, writing in 1879, was "fanciful."

Chambers Street, originally a cul-de-sac, was named after

Robert Chambers, an attorney of Trenton and agent for the heirs of James Hamilton, who owned the land through which it was laid. Mr. Chambers himself became owner of a portion of the land when the street was opened.

Wiggins Street was named for Dr. Thomas Wiggins, a Yale graduate who came here in 1750 and bought 20 acres along Witherspoon Street for a brick house and barn. At his death he left his property to the First Presbyterian Church.

The church trustees opened the street and sold off lots, keeping a parcel for the cemetery. The last piece, including Dr. Wiggins' home, a brick house not unlike Bainbridge House, according to Wanda Gunning, was sold to the gas works in the 1840s as a substation. Until the early part of this century, the house was used for the keeper of the gas works. Nassau Presbyterian Church still owns the Princeton Cemetery, and the gas works has become an electrical substation.

Early Developers. Vandeventer Avenue, originally Van Deventer Place, was opened by the College of New Jersey on land purchased from James Van Deventer to which some of the college houses were removed. Mr. Van Deventer himself planned the street parallel to Nassau Street, which he called Park Street, from the beautiful lake and grounds near it.

Moore Street was named for a Captain Moore, through whose land it passed. John Street, originally John's Alley, got its name after John Scudder who lived on a corner of it.

The so-called "tree" streets were developed by a John Murphy, with Pine Street once a short cul-de-sac called Murphy Lane. According to Princeton Past and Present, written in 1932 by Varnum Lansing Collins, Pine Street is associated with a now forgotten silk-making craze that swept the country in the mid-1800s. A great many mulberry trees were planted and a "coconery" was tentatively organized in the vicinity. The plan never got beyond the experimental stage, Mr. Collins notes, and silk-making at Princeton joined other local lost causes, such as the Princeton Silver Mining Company and the Princeton Copper Company.

Tree Streets Throughout. Streets with tree names are located throughout Princeton. Alphabetically the trees so honored include balsam, beech, birch, cedar, chestnut, cherry, dogwood, elm, hemlock, hickory, linden, locust, magnolia, maple, pine, sycamore, spruce, walnut, willow, white pine and white oak. Laurel and lilac fall into the shrub category, while clover and heather are still other plant types.

Orchard Circle and Evergreen Circle, Crooked Tree Lane and Green Shadows Lane, Woodland Drive, Woods Way and Woodside Lane all perpetuate the arboreal image, while Deer Path, Wheatshaf, Fairway, Greenway, Broadmead and Rollingmead also convey a rural ambience. Princeton's two meandering streams, Stony Brook and Harry's Brook, have given rise to a host of watery names: Broadripple, Brookstone, Brooks Bend, Honey Brook, Leabrook, Littlebrook, Meadowbrook, Overbrook, Pretty Brook, Shady Brook and Stony Brook.

Then there are the views: Clearview, Crestview, Green-

This 'Peg' Isn't As Corny As It Sounds

The newly summerized McCarter Theatre has opened a mini-season of two musical offerings with a thoroughly delightful, talent-packed production of Peg o' My Heart based on J. Hartley Manners' charming chestnut of the same name. It plays this weekend, to be followed July 30 by Some Enchanted Evening, a reprise of Rogers and Hammerstein hit songs.

Peg, of course, is the story of a perky New York Irish lass (here acted, sung, and danced with enormous good humor and vitality by Ann Morrison) whose late rich British uncle left her a large estate and a handsome, romantic young barrister-guardian (Davis Gaines) with the proviso that she live for a time as the paying protegee of her snooty old aunt, Mrs. Chichester (Jan Miner), recently bankrupted by a bank failure, at Regal Villa, her imposing mansion in Sussex, England.

Like Orphan Annie, Peg has a cute dog, Mike, from which she is inseparable; also a hot temper. Mrs. Chichester has a troubled, repressed daughter about Peg's age (Marilyn Caskey) and a wonderfully silly-ass son Alaric (Jeff Brooks).

What Peg does to the primly proper Chichesters and their glacial butler Jarvis (George Ede, stage manager in McCarter's fine Our Town last season) is imaginable — even rememberable by some of us — but how she does it, and how the Chichesters respond is unimaginably refreshing, amusing, even touching at times. (Does one get teary-eyed for the lost innocence of life or merely of musical comedy?)

An import from the American Stage Festival in Milford, N.H., Peg is directed with great verve by that theater's Artistic Director, Larry Carpenter, who makes clever use of Mc-

Carter's revolving stages. He also wrote the adaptation of Manners' play. David Heneker did the music and lyrics, all first rate.

Peg's saucy dialogue explodes at frequent intervals into orchestra-accompanied song-and-dance production numbers that are surprisingly "big," given the size of the cast — those enumerated above plus the obligatory cad (Jonathan Simmons), the housemaid (Suzanne Dawson), and the footman (Joel Blum). Blum does a dance on the kitchen table that is downright Astairical. Yes, that golden oldie "Peg o' My Heart" has been adopted as Peg's theme song.

Les Liaisons Dangereuses it isn't, but this Peg is a show to which you can take the kids and their grandparents without insulting your own intelligence.

Moliere's "Don Juan" Next at Murray Theatre

As its second show of the season, Princeton Summer Theatre will present Don Juan, by Moliere, a comedy of the great classic tradition. Moliere is perhaps best known for his comedies, The Miser and Imaginary Invalid, but in Don Juan he blends the true comic form with a philosophical outlook.

For centuries the figure of Don Juan has both mesmerized and intrigued audiences. Originally a literary legend, he has been represented in many genres, ranging from Byron's epic poem, the opera Don Giovanni, and Rudolph Valentino's film version. He is the stereotype of the heartless lover, even though the legendary figure is far more complex.

Directed by Michael Kohler, Moliere's play will be staged in two acts. In Act I, Don Juan is involved with four women. His companion, and unwanted conscience, Sganerelle, accompanies him through these escapades and provides a comical running commentary on the literary legend's blasphemous ideologies. The act closes with the appearance of a statue whose acceptance of a dinner invitation leaves Don Juan and Sganerelle in a state of consternation.

In Act II, Don Juan makes a show of finding redemption, but the statue is not fooled and the play ends with Don Juan's vanishing into eternity. Has the statue taken him to hell? The play invites a number of interpretations.

Mr. Kohler staged the

'Starting Here, Starting Now,' Keeps Going Strong

Princeton residents who fondly remember Dan Berkowitz's Inn Cabaret of an earlier day will find comparable pleasures in Nick Procaccino's Stage One production of Starting Here, Starting Now, now playing in the small theater at Rider College.

You will even find a sometime Cabaret and PJ&B performer, Brent Monahan, appearing in and co-directing (with Frank Arment) this pint-sized, four-character musical revue. If the show itself seems familiar, you may have seen it three seasons ago at Richard Thicke's Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell or two seasons ago at Princeton Summer Theatre on the University campus.

This production differs from those in featuring rather more mature stars. (In a four-character musical everyone is a star.) But they deliver very creditably the humor and wit, verbal and musical, of this ubiquitous all-singing, all-dancing, all-clowning revue with lyrics by Richard Maltby, music by David Shire.

Mr. Maltby's light verse deals romantically and cynically, but always originally and amusingly, with contemporary male-female "love." We have here clever, often bittersweet songs: about the man who is thrilled because "We can talk to each other," and won't let the woman get a word in edgewise; about the woman left to do the N.Y. Times crossword puzzle all by herself because she gave her former boyfriend too many of the answers. "I don't remember Christmas," or all those other special occasions, sings the man who can't forget them.

In this distinctly upbeat but not cloying show there are songs called "Pleased with Myself," "Song of Me," "Today Is the First Day," (of the rest of my life), and "A New Life Coming," to name a few, all with appropriate tunes.

Of the performing foursome, Sharon Alexander seems best suited to the material and the comfortable but quite small theater. She has a pleasing voice which she enjoys using, and she does not belt out her numbers as if she were on the great stage at McCarter, as the others tend to. (The canny Mr. Procaccino has probably straightened that out by now, along with Ann Lorraine Knight's and Rick Bossman's tendency to overact when the intimate theater calls for subtlety.)

There is a proficient but not obtrusive three-man "pit" orchestra on the small stage, which has two levels for the actors to sing, dance and clown on. The costumes by Susan Wilson are fine.

Mr. Procaccino's Stage One is a theater that area residents need to get acquainted with. This is not one of its more ambitious offerings, but it leaves a good taste in the mind as well as the ears and eyes. Of how many nights out can that be said?

Summer Cinema Offering Pair of Double Features

A pair of sexual comedies from West Germany, Doris Dorrie's Men and Percy Adlon's Sugorboby, will be shown at Kresge Auditorium this Wednesday through Friday.

Men is the story of a Munich advertising executive who discovers that his wife has been having an affair with Stefan, a long-haired bohemian. In his effort to discover what Stefan's attraction is, the husband assumes a false name and moves in with him, and the result is a romp over the subjects of sexual competition, male bonding, and boyish bickering.

Percy Adlon's Sugorboby is a comic parable about a woman who rouses herself in order to satisfy all her senses at once. Marianne Sagebrecht works in a Munich mortuary and has an itch for romance. The object of her infatuation is a blond, handsome young subway conductor named Eisi, and Marianne sets out to ensnare him, becoming detective, voyeur and thief all in one.

She surrounds him with bubble baths and satin sheets, overwhelms him with food and sex — the ultimate joke being that Eisi is entirely acquiescent in her designs, since no one (including his wife) has ever treated him with such devotion before.

Summer Cinema's double feature for Saturday and Sunday will open with David Cronenberg's 1986 remake of the sci-fi thriller, The Fly. Jeff Goldblum plays Dr. Seth Brundle, a scientist who invents a machine to teleport matter — and tests it on himself. The hitch is that a fly gets into the machine with him, and when Brundle "re-assembles," while he looks the same, he discovers that his genes have fused with those of the fly, and the two species begin a fight for dominance.

When the scientist realizes what is happening — he is slowly dying as a human and being reborn as an insect — he turns witty, sardonic, and then eloquent. As his "finess" asserts

Open Air Theatre's Production of 'Godspell' Has Lots of Youth, Energy, but Lacks Control

Unlike its medieval ancestor, contemporary theater based on theological themes often must rely on updated dialogue and strong character acting to convey its message to a 1980's audience. Few musicals are written on Biblical stories these days; one of the most enduring is Godspell, currently running at Washington Crossing's Open Air Theater in a presentation by Razzle Dazzle Productions, a newcomer into the Princeton area theater scene.

Godspell was conceived as a "musical based on the Gospel of St. Matthew." As the character of Jesus quipped in Saturday night's performance, the show can be interpreted as "Lifestyles of the New Testament." There are two principal characters, Jesus and John the Baptist (who doubles as Judas Iscariot). These two, along with the help of ten other characters, present vignettes of Jesus' ministry and subsequent betrayal and crucifixion. There is no real "plot" to Godspell; the show moves ahead through re-enactment of parables by the cast to present to themselves (and also the audience) the teachings of Jesus.

Godspell is truly an ensemble musical. All characters are onstage all the time, and other than Jesus and John the Baptist, no one character stands out or has more to do than the others. Interpretation of the show leaves a great deal of room for ad-libs and parodying of contemporary figures as a method of updating the dialogue.

Razzle Dazzle Productions is a young company, with strong ties to Hopewell Valley High School, as evidenced by the fact that at least five of the ensemble players are current students. The remaining cast members are students at other area high schools and colleges; no one in the production appeared to be over the age of 25. The dangers of performing Godspell, a deceptively demanding show, with such a young cast lie in the difficulties of the songs and the vocal and physical stamina required to perform continually for two one-hour acts.

Pacing Bugged Down. Although the Razzle Dazzle players certainly did not lack energy and enthusiasm, an absence of expert theatrical and vocal direction created flaws in their production. The pacing became bogged down in the cast's own ad-libbing and with few exceptions, all the singers had vocal problems managing the songs.

Independent miking (a system not quite perfected by Open Air Theater technicians) helped to take the stress off the young voices, but what these actors seemed to need was direction in conserving energy and pacing to prevent the theatrical fatigue which came about by the end of the second act.

The character of Jesus was played by the strongest actor of the cast, Michael P. McQuaid. With a solid lyric tenor voice, a good sense of comedic timing and a range of "voices" with which to act out his parables, McQuaid was able to keep the flow going, as well as bail himself out of the few mistakes which did occur.

The character of John the Baptist, played by Paul LeGrady, was presented as a "preppy" Tom Hanks type, which did not seem to fit with the later change to a conniving Judas. Several of the supporting actors displayed good basic talent — Melanie McDougall Burrough performed well with both guitar and voice, Jennifer Nielson's "Valley Girl" and Walt Cupit's "Pee Wee Herman" renditions were comical. In addition, Jill Konalski maintained good energetic stage presence throughout the show.

Theology and Theater. Godspell is theology as well as theater. Although the intensity of Christ's crucifixion can easily get lost in an outdoor theater, these characters need to be presented in such a way that the audience feels their pain when Jesus leaves them for Gethsemane, later to be betrayed by one of their own.

The strengths of this production are its youth and energy, as well as the appealing character of the show itself. Its flaws lie in pacing, which slowed to the point of burdening the players, and the lack of vocal coaching, which would have helped these young singers manipulate their songs, and which, in the long run, would help to prevent vocal burn-out in shows to come.

Godspell will be presented July 15-18 at Washington Crossing's Open Air Theatre. Further information can be obtained by calling 737-1826.

itself, Brundle's humanity struggles to understand and fight the metamorphosis.

Co-feature with The Fly will be another sci-fi horror film from the 1980's. Director Ken Russell's Altered States, written by playwright Paddy Chayevsky, was described by one critic as a mixture of "psychedelic drug research, mumbo-jumbo, Dali-esque surrealism and dazzling pop collage." William Hurt plays a Harvard psychophysiology professor who wants to explore the deep recesses of his brain and tap the memory of early evolutionary stages stored there.

Using mind-expanding drugs and placing himself in immersion tanks for hours on end, he becomes a hip Dr. Frankenstein in pursuit of a demonic ultimate truth. His dangerous voyage in search of the primal being inside him takes him across millions of years of collective memory. But so powerful are his visions that they become externalized, with horrifying and even tragic results.

Franciscan Quartet Exhibits Freshness and Maturity Through Careful Scrutiny of Each Work's Individuality

Princeton University Outdoor Chamber Concerts continued its series Thursday evening (July 9) in Alexander Hall by presenting the Franciscan String Quartet. This is one of many young quartets to enter the concert circuit in recent years, and is among the best this reviewer has heard.

Already its excellence has received some important recognition. It was announced at intermission that the ensemble has obtained the position of Quartet in Residence at Dartmouth College, a prestigious position previously held by the Concord Quartet. The Franciscan Quartet includes Wendy Sharp and Julie Young Ju Kim, violins; Marcia Cassidy, viola; and Margery Hwang, cello.

One thing in particular sets this quartet apart from most others. It makes Mozart sound like Mozart, Mendelssohn like Mendelssohn, and Bartok like Bartok. In other words, under the ensemble's careful scrutiny, that which makes each piece unique in the repertoire is brought to the surface and revealed as if it were the only logical way to present it. Given this approach, each work sounds fresh, and is given its own voice with which to speak through the players' remarkable technical prowess.

The ensemble played Mozart's String Quartet in E-flat Major (K. 428) with the classical austerity his music is due, yet without making it sterile. It is one of the composer's most imaginative works in this genre, and such a reading gave full voice to this imagination, letting it sing through, loud and clear.

Aggressive Element. The development section of the first movement gave indications of an element of aggressiveness in the ensemble's playing. (This became much more obvious and necessary in the Bartok quartet which followed.) A descending triplet figure, carried in turn by each of the instruments, was played in fine fashion with strong bowing. Even in these parts, the playing was careful as well as aggressive. Every detail in the score was well paced. This made for a performance which was reserved at times, but marvelously clear. In fact, it was precisely this kind of clarity which was lacking in the concert played by the Mendelssohn Quartet two weeks ago.

Bartok's String Quartet No. 3, composed in 1927, had a wholly individual character. Much of the piece was bitingly percussive, deriving life from its rhythmic vitality. This was delivered with abandon and well paced energy by these players, as their musicality was tested to its extreme limits. They made masterful use of some unusual playing techniques. Glissandi, col legno (using the stick rather than the horsehair), sul ponticello (playing on the bridge), and pizzicato passages using ple stops all made this a particularly difficult score to play. The quartet executed them all with precision and apparent ease.

A spirited and thoroughly engrossing reading was given to Mendelssohn's String Quartet in A Minor (Op. 13). This work demands both intelligence and passion, qualities which the Franciscan Quartet has in abundance. Its sound took on a gorgeous, deep character, especially in the beginning of the second movement. This was followed by a disarmingly delicate and matter-of-fact rendering of the Intermezzo. The detache playing in this movement was notable for its light touch and uncompromising accuracy.

The first and last movements were performed in a broadly expressive manner, with the constant ebb and flow of Mendelssohn's romantic fervor. The variety and good sense of the phrasing made this a very satisfying listening experience, both to the ear and to the soul.

These four women play with stylistic correctness as well as maturity. If one were to listen to the Franciscan Quartet on record (as we hope we shall one day), the listener would be hard-pressed to give a close guess as to the age of the musicians. Their maturity as an ensemble belies their youth. Given the esteem and recognition they have already achieved, we have reason to expect great things from them in years hence. It is our hope that they make an annual appearance in the Princeton area. They will undoubtedly be warmly received.

ABOUT

JAPANESE BEETLES
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

Adult Japanese beetles have started to emerge in the Princeton area. Japanese beetles feed on a wide variety of shade trees, shrubs and flowers: linden, flowering fruit trees, birch, hawthorne, maple, rose, mountain ash, canna, Boston ivy, zinnia, rose of Sharon, and elm (just to mention a few). Adult beetles will continue to emerge for the next two or three months. Last year Japanese beetles were observed into mid-September. However, most beetles are present during late June, July and early August. Your trees will require protection from defoliation. Some insecticides labeled for adult Japanese beetle control for a wide variety of plants are: Sevin, Turcam, Methoxychlor, Rotenone/pyrethrum, dycarb, and orthene. Always read the label before applying insecticides. Where Japanese beetle populations are high, consideration should be given to grub control later this year. To keep your trees and shrubs healthy, give WOODWINDS a call (924-3500) for your annual feeding and maintenance. We are glad to be of service!

MUSIC

Colorado Quartet to Play
In Next Summer Concert

The Colorado Quartet will perform on Thursday, July 23, at 8 in the Graduate College Courtyard.

This fourth concert in the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concert Series is free and open to the public. In the event of rain, this concert will be held in Richardson Auditorium. Call 452-5977 after 4 p.m. on the day of the concert to check the location.

The Colorado Quartet first attracted international attention in 1983 when it won both the Naumberg Chamber Music Award and first prize in the Banff International String Quartet competition. Since then, the quartet has performed in most of the major chamber series throughout North America, and many in Europe, South America and the Far East.

Before embarking on their quartet career, the members of the Colorado Quartet were teaching assistants at the Juilliard School. The quartet is active in commissioning and performing contemporary American music, and has commissioned works by composers such as Ezra Laderman, Karel Husa and George Tsontakis.

Members of the quartet include Julie Rosenfeld, violin; Deborah Redding, violin; Francesca Martin, viola, and Sharon Prater, cello. They will perform Beethoven's String Quartet Op. 127, E-flat major, Haydn's String Quartet in A major, "Sun," and Dvorak's Quartet in A-flat major, Op. 105.

Westminster Lists Organ,
Other Summer Recitals

Westminster Choir College's Summer Session continues to offer a variety of musical programs from July 19-23.

On Sunday, Kevin McClure will give an organ recital at Bristol Chapel at 8:30 p.m.

On Monday, Jeffrey Johnson will perform at 7 at Trinity Church. This is a change from the original schedule of events, as the recital by William Porter has been cancelled.

Tuesday, Richard Frey will play the organ in Bristol Chapel at 6:30, and Julia White at Trinity Church at 7; Wednesday, July 22, Joan Lippincott, head of the Westminster Organ Department, will play at Trinity Church at 7; and Thursday, July 23, Eugene Roan, a member of the Westminster organ faculty, will give a recital at Bristol Chapel at 8:30.

Other musical events taking place on the Westminster campus this week include a piano recital by Victoria Griswold, a member of the Westminster Conservatory faculty, Monday at 7, and a voice recital by Ted Barr, baritone, accompanied by Stephen Peet, in a program

Outdoor Concert Planned By 'English Eyes' Band

The second Summer Sounds '87 concert will be held Thursday at 7:30 at Community Park North. The band English Eyes will perform.

English Eyes is a relatively new band, but it has already had a number of sets in the New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania area. The band is led by Belgian-born Dan Sky, who was with the original incarnation of the nationally-known group "Bonjovi."

The other members of the band are Rick Misak, keyboards and vocals; Mike Musk, keyboards, Chris Malley, guitar and vocals, and Mike Wojcik, percussion.

On Thursday, July 23, the band Blues Traveler will perform, followed by Chemical Cat on Thursday, July 30. The Boston-based Three Colors will close the series on Thursday, August 6. All concerts start at 7:30 and are free and open to the public. In the event of rain the concerts will be played the following Friday.

The concerts are presented by the Arts Council and the Recreation Department. They are made possible by a grant from the Princeton Youth Fund.

prehensive theatre program for teenagers.

Performances will be held outdoors in the courtyard of Holder Hall on the Princeton University campus, on Saturday and Sunday, July 25-26, at 1 and 4:30 p.m. Admission is free. For information, call 683-9100.

ate artistic director, Robert Lanchester, directing the program this year, explains the multiple casting: "Two Gents has about 2,000 lines in it. Approximately 1000, or half, of those lines belong to the three main characters, Proteus, Valentine and Julia. In order to give as many as possible of our young actors the chance to try their wings in Shakespearean roles, I have divided the main roles up between two actors or actresses apiece.

"I have also cast girls in several of the traditionally male roles, when that does not intrude on the nature of the relationships in the play. We have a company of 25 players, each of whom has a speaking role, and plenty of chances to stretch their talents in a lively ensemble of their peers."

The four gentlemen in the cast are Chris Parks and Dan Levine as Proteus and Ted Kirschner and Jeff MacCulloch as Valentine. Their ladies are Cynthia Boorujy and Sonia Johansen as Julia, and Danielle Conti and Jessica Heidt as Sylvia. Leah Napoleon and Jennifer Rosen are Speed, Paul and Andrew Kaplan are Launce as the final set of doubles.

Other roles include Ann Marie Bianchetti as Antonia, Lisa Davidson as Panthina, Cara Spenser as Lucetta, Chris Anrig as the Duke, Aneesh Chopra as Eglamour, Alexis Goretsky as Crab, Philip Arcuni as Thurio, and Shandi Durkee as the Hostess. Alexandra Agius, Claudia Cataldo, Frederick Cooke, Juliet Johnson and Robert Powell are Outlaws and the Citizens of Milan.

Three Plays in Rotation At Shakespeare Festival

William Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew is the first production of the 25th anniversary

This most popular of Shakespeare's comedies, will be presented in nightly rotation through September with Shakespeare's Coriolanus and The Winter's Tale (opening August 7).

Directed by Festival Artistic Director Paul Barry, Taming of the Shrew stars Madyon Brans and Jonathan Smoots as Kate and Petruchio. Ms. Brans, making her Festival debut, joins the company after six seasons with Ohio's Great Lakes Theatre Festival, where her roles included Desdemona, Cordelia and Princess Katherine of France. Mr. Smoots, who was Brutus in last year's Julius Caesar, is an actor-director whose numerous classical credits include six seasons with the American Community Pool Policy Defended by Manager

To the Editor of Town Topics: I believe the record must be set straight regarding Ms. Craig's letter which appeared in the July 8 edition of TOWN TOPICS regarding an alleged racial incident at Community Park Pool.

The only issue here is one of resident vs. non-resident. We have experienced increased attempts by non-residents to use the facility and have increased efforts to assure that all those using the pool are either season ticket holders, Princeton residents, or non-resident guests accompanied by a resident or season ticket holder.

It is established policy to confirm the residency of all season ticket holders when applications for tickets are received. It is also established policy to check the residency status of patrons who choose to pay the daily rate. A driver's license or other acceptable form of identification is all that is required.

The response from most of the community to this policy has been very positive. It was obviously formed to protect the rights and privileges of members of the Princeton community to use their pool.

In specific regard to Ms. Craig's letter, I regret that she used TOWN TOPICS as a forum for a personal attack upon me. At no time was she "verbally abused" nor subject to any more scrutiny than any other person who comes to Community Park Pool. The patrons who preceded Ms. Craig into the pool were properly displaying their season permits and hence it was not necessary to ask them for identification to prove their residency.

I regret the fact that Ms. Craig attempted to turn a resident/non-resident issue into a "racial incident."

Finally, I encourage all members of the Princeton Community to use their pool — it is one of the few public complexes of its kind in the state.

Recreation Dept. Answers Discrimination Charges

To the Editor of Town Topics: In response to Ms. Craig's letter to TOWN TOPICS (July 8), the Princeton Recreation Department would like to make the following comments:

1. It is unfortunate that this incident occurred. I wish Ms. Craig had called the Recreation Office to get a full picture of all the facts before writing a letter to the newspaper.

2. It is Department policy to check identification of all those who gain entrance to the pool through our daily admission system. With the increasing pressure of development outside the geographic boundaries of the Borough and Township of Princeton, we are experiencing a drastic increase in the number of non-residents attempting to gain admittance to the pool complex by stating they are Princeton residents.

Deer Shotgun Season Is Inhumane Solution

To the Editor, Town Topics: The proposed ordinance permitting a special three-day hunting season in Princeton Township is an inhumane 'instant gratification' solution to our deer problem.

A more thoughtful and humane approach has been offered to the Township in a letter to Mayor Firestone from the Humane Society of the United States citing a six-point plan along with an invitation to the Township to participate in the Conference on Contraception Strategies to be held November 13 and 14, 1987 in Philadelphia.

This might be the ultimate and humane solution to our deer problem.

ical Society project might involve preparation of a large-scale map of the Borough, Township and eastward to the mainline railroad. The names of all streets, avenues and the like would be shown. Then a determined effort could be made to determine the origins of the names inscribed. The ultimate result might be a map and explanatory text, for distribution by the Society or other entity.

I look forward to the second installment, and I wonder if something of the above described nature might be contemplated.

In passing, one of the main deficiencies of TOWN TOPICS is a lack of maps. The Davidson parking awkwardness would be clarified by a map.

Patterson Center Praised As a Welcoming Place

To the Editor of Town Topics: Praise must be given to Gillian Godfrey, the director of the Suzanne Patterson Center in the heart of town. The center is a warm place where senior citizens can gather for any number of programs, or it can be a place to drop in. It is a very beautiful center.

The programs are a credit to Gillian Godfrey and a credit to the Borough of Princeton. Aside from the different programs available, there is a van that is in constant use taking people shopping and taking them on trips.

The center is still in its growing stages, but it is getting off to a fine start. Again, thank you Gillian.

At the time of writing this, I was not aware that the Suzanne Patterson Center no longer has a van at its disposal.

POPPY KENNEDY

We feel that we are protecting the interests of Princeton residents by insisting on identification.

3. In response to Ms. Craig's question regarding the family that entered the complex in front of her. They were season ticket holders and showed their identification cards to the Admission Clerk as they walked in. All applications for season tickets are checked thoroughly as to residency before the actual identification cards are typed and made accessible to the purchaser. This process is far more scrutinizing than an identification check at the front gate of the pool complex.

4. Two individuals who witnessed the incident stated that Mr. Breithaupt conducted himself in a professional manner and both concurred that at no time did Mr. Breithaupt verbally abuse or treat Ms. Craig or her friend in a discourteous manner. He was carrying out the policy of checking residency and that is where the misunderstanding took place.

Mr. Breithaupt has worked as a pool employee for 11 years, nine of those as a pool manager. The Recreation Department has the highest regard for the job he has done. We consider him to be an exemplary individual who has given to his job and the Princeton community a large measure of care and concern for all Princeton residents.

R. DONALD BARR
Executive Director
Princeton Recreation Dept.

New Chief Appreciates Response to Appointment

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would like to thank the many, many friends who telephoned, sent cards, letters and personally congratulated me on my recent appointment as the Chief of Police of the Township of Princeton.

It is truly a wonderful feeling to know that so many people were happy for me and my family. I look forward to the challenge.

Big Street Map Suggested With Origins of Names

To the Editor of Town Topics: I have read with great interest Barbara Johnson's first installment of an article on the street names of Princeton (TOWN TOPICS, July 8). I have lived in this vicinity at intervals since 1935, and finally retired to Penn's Neck more than 10 years ago.

It has occurred to me at intervals that a possible Histor-

Is the Mini Slump Over For Princeton Post 76?

Blame it on the heat. Blame it on bats that have gone silent. Or blame it on some erratic pitching but Princeton Post 76 was involved in one of the strangest games of the season Saturday in the Mercer County American League.

Post 76's Tim Rumer pitched eight innings of hitless ball and struck out 14 but still ended up losing a no-hitter to Mitchell Davis. M-D capitalized on nine walks, four Princeton errors and a wild pitch for a 5-3 victory, the fifth in a row for manager Hank Towns' streaking club. That loss, coupled with a 1-0 shutout at the hands of Mitch Davis the day before, added up to three in its last four outings for Princeton Post 76, which had entered the week with a seven-game winning streak.

As a result, Post 76 slipped to third place, 2½ games behind second-place Hightstown and only one game up on Mitchell Davis. Princeton did not lose as much ground to Hamilton, however, as the previously unbeaten Carellas also lost twice last week.

If Princeton manager Larry Bender was concerned, he wasn't voicing it. "You can't help but go into a slump at

Post 76 vs. Hopewell: Still No Decision

It may be remembered as the longest game of the season. First it was rain that forced a halt after three innings of the July 1 meeting between Princeton Post 76 and Hopewell Post 339. The entire game was replayed Monday night in Pennington but again there was no decision: the contest was called after eight innings because of darkness with the score tied at 1. The conclusion will be played at a later date.

Both teams scored in the fifth inning. For Post 76, Bill Byrne's single scored John Mitchell, who had walked and stolen second. Hopewell retaliated when Mark Gola singled home Nick Miller.

Defense took over in this contest as Post 76 played errorless ball and Hopewell was charged with only one miscue. Post 76 collected five hits off Hopewell pitcher Brian Boucher, one more than Hopewell. Sixteen-year-old Kevin Durling was on the mound for Princeton.

some time every year and end up costing yourself," insisted Bender. "We haven't been beaten yet this year; we've beaten ourselves in all six losses. The kids know and I know — so watch out for us the rest of the season."

Post 76 will have an excellent opportunity to improve its 10-6 record this week when it tangles with two second-division clubs.

This Wednesday at 5:45 it will oppose Ewing Post 314 at Ewing High School in the second game of a home and home series and on Saturday it will engage in the only double-header of the season when it meets Lawrence Post 414 at Eggerts Crossing Field. The first game will start at 1.

Too Many Walks, Errors. Rumer's unsuccessful bid to hurl his second no-hitter of the season (he pitched two last year) eventually boiled down, commented Bender, to "too many walks, too many errors with Timmy being a part of the errors." It was, allowed Bender, the first time in his career that he had witnessed a pitcher lose a no-hitter.

In the end, a tiring Rumer, a victim of the relentless heat, was the author of his own downfall. In the eighth inning, his throwing error to third base allowed the tying run to score; he walked in the go-ahead run and sent an insurance run home with a wild pitch.

In the opening inning, Rumer had helped stake himself to a 3-0 lead, as he belted Jim Hutchinson's second pitch for a lead-off triple and scored on an error by the M-D shortstop. John Mitchell, who had gotten on base via the error, later scored when he was hit in the back by a throw in an attempted steal home. Bill Byrne walked, stole second and came home on another error for Post 76's third run.

Mitchell-Davis scored two unearned runs in the third when it combined two walks, a stolen base, double steal and two errors by third baseman Bob Blankstein. In the eighth, it all came apart for Rumer, who had already thrown 125 of his eventual 159 pitches.

After yielding a leadoff walk on four pitches, Rumer cleanly fielded Ron Wilson's bunt but his throw was dropped by Byrne at first base. Catcher Ed Pattik followed with another bunt, which Rumer fielded and then threw wildly to third, trying to get Cryan. Cryan scored the tying run.

Rumer then walked the next two batters, his eighth and ninth, to force in the go-ahead run. Jay Jordan came on to pitch the ninth inning. For the hard-luck Rumer, who had two of Princeton's four hits off Hutchinson, the loss was his second against three wins. Post 76 was guilty of four errors in the field.

Only Two Hits. The previous day, Post 76 could manage only a bunt single by Tim O'Connell and a bad-hop hit past third by John Mitchell, in bowing 1-0 to Mitchell Davis pitcher Ron Wilson. The victors had seven hits off losing pitcher Byrne and turned two double plays in fashioning their defensive gem. The only run came in the second and it was unearned. Cryan opened with a single and moved to second on a throwing error by Rumer after he had caught John Thomas's fly ball. A passed ball moved Cryan to third and he came home on a single by right fielder Carmen Barbato.

A Dash of Psychology. A baseball manager not only has

Of all the men who've ever played big league baseball, which ones were chosen to play in the All-Star game the most times in history? ... Three men are tied for this honor ... Stan Musial, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays each played in 24 All-Star games to set the record.

It's a little-known fact that there was once another major league in baseball — beside the National and American Leagues — in this century ... It was called the Federal League and operated in 1914 and 1915.

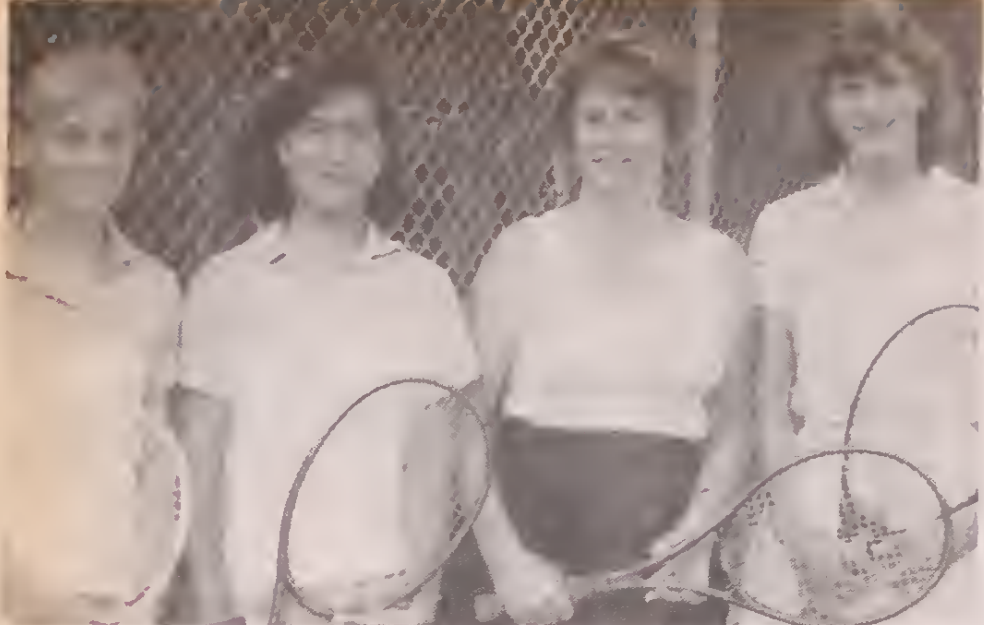

NEW LONG-TERM NURSING HOME INSURANCE with home convalescent care benefits is now available. Receive up to $3,000 per month. Low rates.

Strangely enough, in the entire history of big league baseball, only two catchers have EVER won the batting championship ... The only catchers ever to lead a major league in hitting at the end of any season were Bubbles Hargrave in 1926, and Ernie Lombardi in 1938 and 1942.

to be a master of strategy but a master of psychology as well, and Bender proved he was no slouch in the latter in Post 76's split with league-leading Hamilton at the start of the week. When Hamilton destroyed Post 76, 16-0, in the first game, a game Bender had said earlier that Princeton had to win, there was some doubt raised in the minds of the Princeton followers that the team could bounce back the next day. Had its spirit been crushed beyond repair?

There was no doubt in Bender's mind. "They were the better team tonight, but they won't win tomorrow," predicted Bender flat out. "When you get beat that badly, people start to have doubts about their ability ... I wanted them to know I had faith in them," recalled Bender. The burden of that faith rested on the shoulders of Jay Jordan. In the return meeting the following night between the two teams — and this was one game that Post 76 absolutely, positively had to win — Jordan was magnificent on the mound. But so was his opponent, Steve Bagley. For seven innings it appeared as if neither team would give in to the mounting pressure. For 6½ innings, Bagley held the 76ers hitless and was on the verge of posting the first no-hitter by a Carella pitcher since 1973. Rumer ended Bagley's bid with a sharp single to right. Jordan, meanwhile, while not as overpowering, was just as effective at keeping Hamilton from scoring. In the eighth, Post 76 finally broke through. After John Mitchell had reached first on an error by Hamilton shortstop Joe Gmitter, Princeton shortstop Bill Byrne got the second hit off Bagley when his drive to deep center just eluded the outstretched glove of Dan Vizzini and rolled to the fence, scoring Mitchell. Then, after Greg Papciak had sacrificed Byrne to third, pinch-hitting Jeff Robinson singled home Byrne with an insurance run.

Jordan slammed the door against Hamilton in the eighth. He fanned four of the last five batters he faced, ending with ten strikeouts. He walked four and was touched for seven hits, in gaining his fourth win against one loss. In blanking Kurt Stenhagen without a hit, Jordan also ended the 13-game hitting streak by the Hamilton first baseman.

In seeking his fourth straight victory without a loss, Bagley struck out six, walked only two, and yielded three hits. Bender and Hamilton manager Rick Freeman praised the performances of both pitchers. "The one difference is they got the key hit," observed Freeman, whose team stranded eight runners. As for Bender, his faith in his team was repaid. "I know my team," he said, following the crucial win. "I believe in my kids."

Rumer Is Rocked. The previous day, Post 76 was whipped by the one-hit pitching of Todd Ruyak and a 15-hit Hamilton attack that saw the victors score in every inning but one, including seven runs in the fifth inning when the plate umpire stopped the carnage with Hamilton leading, 16-0. The victim of the onslaught was Rumer, who survived 3½ innings before giving way to Mark Lee. Rumer was raked for six hits and seven runs, all of them earned. He struck out five and walked four in losing his first decision after three opening wins.

Lee and his successor, Robinson, were just as ineffective as Rumer in trying to stop the rain of Hamilton hits. "We swung the bats very well," allowed Freeman in a bit of understatement.

Right fielder Dave Chmielewski led the Hamilton attack with three hits, four RBIs and four runs scored. The only hit off Ruyak, who won his fifth without a loss, was a bunt single by Mitchell in the second inning. With the rout Hamilton stretched its winning streak to 13 before Post 76 ended it the following night; with the loss Post 76 fell to 9-4 and surrendered second place to 10-3 Hightstown.
